To request pamphlet preparation of attached newspaper article describing anti-Semitism of New Left and Black Panther Party (BPP) for anonymous mailing to selected individuals and organizations as counterintelligence effort.

Attached article from "The New York Times" highlights fear of Jews to anti-Zionism of New Left and violence-prone BPP. This fear is reportedly based on increasing concern that claim of both that their anti-Zionism represents only hostility to Israel as imperialistic partner of this country, is but terrifying sham for actual, abusive, hateful anti-Semitism. The concern is apparently sufficiently founded in fact and prevalence to warrant consideration by even a liberal newspaper such as "The New York Times." The article documents instances in radical publications and presents other material which attests to this concern, and thus indirectly applies embarrassing anti-Semitic stigma to many organizations of radical New Left and BPP.

To capitalize on same from counterintelligence aspect, it is felt article content can be prepared in more striking pamphlet format to be distributed to selected offices and anonymously mailed to selected individuals or organizations within areas where full impact of anti-Semitism on part of New Left and Black Panthers can be made.

Near Anti-Zionism of New Left

NEW YORK (AP) — Among Jews, some of whom are convinced that anti-Semitism is a convenient mask for a resurgence of anti-Semitism.

In private argument and public debate, in magazines such as Commentary and Transition, and at seminars, conferences and cocktail parties, the question of whether the anti-Israel, pro-Arab feelings of some radicals can be equated with traditional forms of anti-Semitism is being worried over by a growing number of Jews.

Some Jews contend that for many in the New Left, anti-Zionism is a purely political position reached on the basis of an anti-imperialist question that assumes Israel to be a client and a supporter of the United States. But others maintain that such political attitudes can be legitimately construed as anti-Semitism, whether or not they are expressed intentionally.

And still other Jews point to instances in which anti-Zionism has been used as a transparent code for anti-Jewish feeling—when "Zionism" stands for "Jew" and is used in the classical manner, as a term of abuse in itself.

Antagonism to Israel is most visible in articles appearing in radical and underground publications, and on college campuses where more and more Arab students have been appearing as speakers. But it also surfaced last week at a Central Park rally marking the 23rd anniversary of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Japan.

Paul O'Dwyer, a leading figure of the "New Left" and a government official, was the keynote speaker at the rally. He was actually booed from the stage by about 100 young people in the audience who said they opposed his pro-Israel position.

"If my position in relation to Israel makes it impossible for me to speak to you about peace, then I shall reluctantly have to leave this platform," Mr. O'Dwyer said. The booing continued and Mr. O'Dwyer left.

To counter the anti-Israel campaign some young Jews have formed campus-based, left-oriented groups that are specifically pro-Israel. And worried Jewish community organizations, such as the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee, are watching anti-Israel activity carefully, compiling file folder after file folder of material, trying to assess its meaning.

Richard Cohen, the associate executive director of the American Jewish Congress contends: "We don't think there is any valid or real difference between anti-Israel sentiment and anti-Semitism. Anti-Zionism is a cover for anti-Semitism."

Mr. Cohen said in an interview that he would not call every critic of the legitimacy of Israel's policies anti-Jewish. But he added:

"Because we believe that Israel is essential to the survival of the Jewish people in a post-dollar world, to propose the obliteration or revision into a so-called nonsectarian state is ultimately anti-Semitism because it would tend to very seriously wound and injure and diminish the possibility of Jewish continuity."

'Old Venom' Cited

Another authority who argues that the anti-Israel sentiment on the left that surfaced after the Six-Day War in 1967 is the same old venom in new bottles is Moshe Lazar, the deputy director of the Anti-Defamation League. He said that anti-Semitism was no longer fashionable in most intellectual circles, but Professor Lazar in an interview here, "Now it is resurrected in anti-Zionist propaganda, which they find more acceptable."

The sort of material that, in the view of Hans Morgenthau, the political scientist, tends to stir some of the entrenched anti-Semitic prejudices that have been popularized through the ages, "can be found in almost every issue of the publications of the cluster of groups sheltering under the umbrella term of 'the New Left.'"

A target now in these publications is Israel; the word "Jew" is rarely used and the term "Zionist" is substituted. But sometimes, as in an article in The Black Panther, the militant black party's weekly newspaper, that referred repeatedly to a slumlord as a "racist Zionist," it seems an interchangeable code word.

One of the earliest expositions of the radicals' vision of the Middle East appeared in the June-July, 1967, issue of the newsletter of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which actually appeared in early August, 1967. The two-page spread of text, photographs and drawings contains little that has not reappeared, basically unchanged, in innumerable radical publications since then.

One cartoon shows Moshe Dayan — the eyepatch is unmistakable — epauletted with dollar signs. Another shows Muhammad Ali (Cassius Clay, the boxer), and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic throttled with a noose held by a hand decorated with the Star of David. A dollar sign centers the star, and an arm and curved sword labeled "Third World Liberation Movement" are raised to slash the rope.

A Parallel to Nazis Drawn There are photographs of slaughtered bodies, captioned: "Gaza Massacres, 1956," and "This is the Gaza Strip, Palestine."

ENCLOSURE

Similarly, in a series on "Zionism vs. Socialism" in the March, 1979, issue of The Long Beach (Calif.) Free Press, Mike Kionsky, a leader of the RYM-II faction of the Students for a Democratic Society, equated the "continuous attacks on the Arab people" by Israel with "The German Fascists who committed genocide against the Jews."

And a recent issue of The Black Panther devoted its entire back page to a cartoon depicting "Israel: The Zionist Puppet State of Imperialism." Israel, shown as an eyepatched pig labeled "World Zionism," is sucking greedily at nursing bottles filled with dollar signs that are held by a cluster of smiling pigs labeled "U.S. Imperialism," "West Germany," "France and Britain."

Another 1970 issue of the Panther weekly newsletter contained an article entitled "Will Racism or International Proletarian Solidarity Conquer?" by Connie Matthews, who is described as the international coordinator of the party.

It was a "Zionist judge, Judge [Monroe] Friedman" who sentenced Ruby P. Newton, Miss Matthews wrote, and another "Zionist judge," Julius A. Hoffman, who "allowed the other Zionists to go free but has kept Bobby Seale in jail and sentenced him to four years for contempt charges."

Beyond that, she charged, "The other Zionists in the conspiracy trial were willing and did sacrifice Bobby Scale and his role . . . to gain publicity." She once again condemn Zionism as a racist doctrine."

... the now-defunct publication of the Weatherman faction of S.D.S., wrote in August, 1969, of "The almost universal collaboration of organized Jewry with the Nazis ... and the general absence of conscience" and charged that Israel has "proved incapable of

A 1963 series, "History of the Middle's Best Liberation Struggle," in New Left Notes, S.D.S. publication, thus traces beginnings with "leaders" in developing world imperialism. Was the Baron Edmund de Rottschild "child," and characterizes its founding as having taken place on the basis of "The complete relocation of thousands of people of color."

Defamation of Israel" is accompanied by the glorification of the Arab-guerrilla cause. In the March, 1970 issue of "Militant," the publication of the Young Socialist Alliance, a Trotskyite-Marxist group, a relation of the disavowals by various guerrilla groups of responsibility for the explosion aboard a Swissair jet was followed by:

"The truth, though, is that if in fact a Palestinian individual or organization had anything to do with the crash of the Swissair liner, the 47 people who died were as much the victims of imperialism as the 400 Vietnamese men, women and children of Songmy and the six million Jews of Central and Eastern Europe."

Israel Linked to U.S.
This paragraph also demonstrates a basic equation underlying much of the hostile rhetoric Israel, since its 1967 victory over the Arabs, is identified by the radical left with the United States and with all the sins — imperialism, exploitation and oppression of the "Third World" — of which the United States is accused and, indeed, convicted by them.

A matching factor is the identification of black militant groups, in particular the Black Panthers, with the Arab cause. And at least in part because of the pervasive influence of the Panthers in the New Left, Dr. Amital Elzoin of Columbia University said in an interview that one's attitude toward Israel now "serves as a test of the left-liberal camp."

An Israeli citizen who served with the armed forces during the Six Day War, he has been identified as having contributed to the success of anti-
Israel feeling since David Ben-
Gurion's death in 1973.

Among those who feel that criticism of, even hostility to, Israel is a political statement and not some justifiable strain of anti-Jewish feeling are some prominent intellectuals of the New Left.

Dr. Noam Chomsky, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology linguist, said in an interview recently that it was "obviously perfect nonsense" to quote criticism of Israel with anti-Semitism, either the specific criticism of Israeli policy and attitude that he and others such as A.E. Stone, for years an Israel supporter, have made.

on the virulent attacks in the radical press.

In an article replying to attacks on his position, Dr. Chomsky wrote: "It is quite impossible to identify a definite 'New Left doctrine'—we are here except for 'the Black Liberation movement,' which stirred about the Middle East must be interpreted in terms of domestic American problems and its vicinities."

Dr. Gurevsky added: "To the extent that there is anti-Semitism in the New Left, it is in part in reaction to the behavior of the American Jewish community, to its extolling of the martial and chauvinistic elements in Israeli society, which are by no means dominant there."

1. 1990-1991

One aspect of the New Zionist attitude that is particularly distressing to many American Jews, and one most likely to split the community sharply, is the fact that many young radical activists are Jewish, and hence participants in what the elders may see as anti-Sem-

Richard Olsen, Harvard staff Jewish involvement in anti-Israel activity as having "a number of reasons — an insane kind of self-hatred that has characterized Jewish anti-Semitism for a long time. We need to identify with the majority, to stand against your interests."<sup>11</sup>

Barry Rusk, the "Chicago Conspiracy" defendant and one of the most prominent of the Jewish radicals, explained his own anti-Israel, anti-Arab position, in blunt terms in an interview last year. It began, he said, with a disillusionment visit to Israel: "So here I came to Israelism and I got — America! It became anti-Israel and pro-Arab."

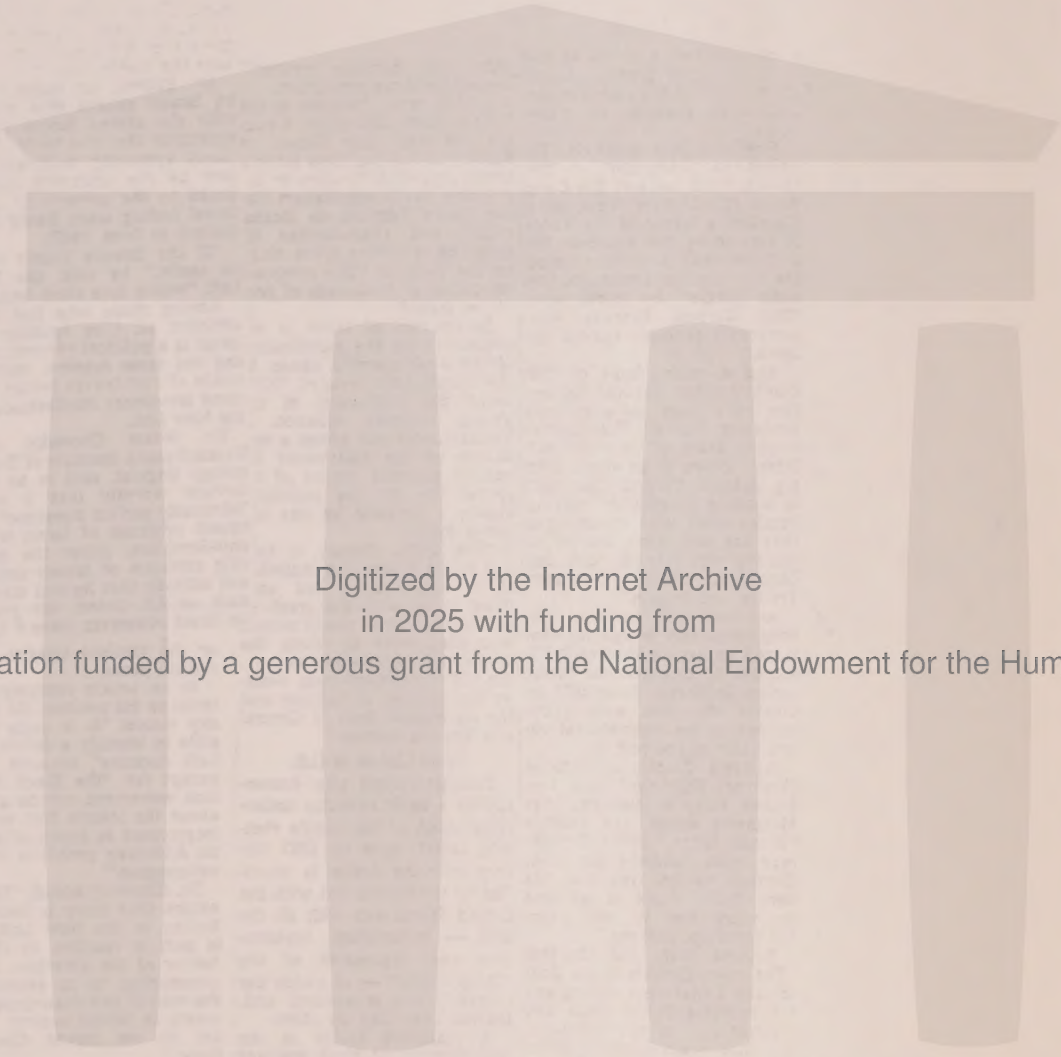

Michael Silegal, then a national secretary of SCLC, said in an interview last year that Jewish members of the organization, "As first among the middle-class Jewish 'back grounds' . . . are attacked by the prospect of anti-Semitism. But when they think again, they come to the inevitable conclusion."

Another hypothesis was put forward by Bernard F. G. the executive with American the American Journal of Law. Mr. G. says the willingness of young American to become involved may be traceable, in part, to their lack of a sense of "Americanism."

The Holocaust that cost the six million Jews in Europe not scathed into the next generation born after the War II, he maintains. "The Gold says, can they continue as their parents can, where in-Semitism was almost commonplace, if not respectable in the countries where anti-Semitism Jewish quotas for jobs and faculties and other things displayed some of the same Jew or Jews allowed."

Article highlights fear of Jews to anti-Zionism of New Left and Black Panther Party (BPP). This fear is reported based on increasing concern that claim of both that their anti-Zionism represents only hostility to Israel as imperialistic partner of this country, is but terrifying sham for actual, abusive, hateful anti-Semitism.  (WASHINGTON SPRING PROJECT)

PURPOSE:

To recommend item be furnished cooperative national news media source by Crime Records, designed to curtail success of Martin Luther King's fund raising for the Washington Spring Project.

BACKGROUND:

Martin Luther King has now scheduled the Washington Spring Project, his "poor people's march on Washington, D. C.," for the latter part of April, 1968. King's organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) has sent out a mailing to 70,000 potential financial contributors. King asked these 70,000 to contribute to the Washington Spring Project for the feeding and housing of the marchers.

At the same time, churches in the Washington, D. C., area have said they will feed and house King's marchers.

SUGGESTION:

That the above facts be given a cooperative news source by the Crime Records Division so that a story could be given nation-wide circulation that King does not need contributions from the 70,000 people he solicited. Since the churches have offered support, no more money is needed and any contributed would only be used by King for other purposes. This item would need nation-wide circulation in order to reach all the potential contributors and curtail their donations. A sample item is attached. J

Martin Luther King, Jr., President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), today finds himself in the embarrassing position of having too much money, or at least the probability of too much money. The SCLC sent out a huge mailing to its contributors pleading for funds for the Washington Spring Project, the "poor people's march on Washington." Thousands of contributors were urged to support the march financially in order to feed and house the demonstrators. But the churches in the Washington, D. C., area have offered to house and feed the demonstrators. U

Now the contributions are beginning to roll in from the mailing and King doesn't need the money. An embarrassment of riches has befallen King, who will only use the money for other purposes. The churches had better come through with all the housing and support the demonstrators need, because there will be little money left for the "poor people" by the time the march rolls around. U

This is to recommend item about number of teen-agers in the Poor People's Campaign be furnished news media source on confidential basis by Crime Records Division.

BACKGROUND:

The Poor People's Campaign (PPC) is the campaign of massive civil disobedience initiated by the late Martin Luther King, Jr., to force passage of legislation favorable to Negroes. We have learned that at least two of the PPC caravans moving toward Washington, D.C., are composed largely of teen-agers and young men in their early twenties.

This is an unstable element with a real potential for violence. The recent riot in Washington started with looting by teen-agers and young men. This information has been disseminated to appropriate interested agencies and it is felt it should also be publicized by the news media. Attached is a summary of these facts which protects our sources.

ACTION:

That attached summary be given a cooperative news media source by the Crime Records Division on a confidential basis to publicize the number of young people involved in the PPC.

FOR THE PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN
 ON "CHILDREN'S CAMPAIGN"

The Poor People's Campaign may be turning into a "children's campaign" and the number of teenagers descending on the Nation's Capital sends officials that the recent riot in Washington began with teen-age looting. Of the 369 "poor people" in one of the caravans moving North on Washington, there are 315 of school age. Most of those in the "Midwest Caravan" are teenagers or young men in their early twenties. Members of a teen-age group called the "Invaders" are in one caravan.

Parents of these young people have protested, knowing the potential for trouble in this situation. But the "children" came anyway and Washington, D.C., faces an explosive situation. The presence of so many teen-agers and youngsters only adds another unpredictable element to the Poor People's Campaign.

The Poor People's Campaign is on the march in Washington, D.C., but not on foot. The campaign is now buying cars and buses, twelve cars and three buses so far. The mile train got great publicity for the poor people, but when it comes to the hard work of "turning the Nation's Capital upside down," in the words of Reverend Abernathy, the poor people invest in several thousand dollars worth of automotive equipment.

The three buses are being used to shuttle the demonstrators around Washington on their appointed rounds and the dozen cars do the job of transporting campaign leaders to Resurrection City from their quarters at the Pitts Motor Hotel. Of course, the angry demonstrators who went to the Pitts Motor Hotel to get Reverend Abernathy for a stay in the muddy camp didn't get to use these cars.

The Poor People's Campaign bought two more cars over the Memorial Day weekend, making the fleet as large as some of the car rental agencies in Washington. If the campaign leaders used commercial bus lines for their trips back and forth from their hotel, the thousands spent on cars would feed a lot of children in Resurrection City.

During the Presidential Inauguration activities here in WDC, WFO ascertained that the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC) was utilizing walkie-talkies to coordinate their movements and activities. A source furnished WFO the call letters and the frequencies which were being utilized by the marshals appointed by the NMC. These frequencies were on the "citizen" band which can be utilized by the public in general. It became apparent to WFO that some immediate action was necessary to counteract the very effective use of this equipment by the NMC in obtaining information about police and military movements.

WFO realizing the importance to the NMC of obtaining knowledge concerning police and military contingent movements, engaged in a "disinformation" program also utilizing the "citizen" band. This was done by identifying with the NMC network as a unit within that network and by countermanding NMC orders to the marshals and by supplying the marshals with misinformation.

In addition to being able to disrupt the planning of the NMC, WFO was obtaining information from the NMC about their plans and locations of contingents of the organization.

A source of WFO who was a marshal and part of the NMC communication network advised WFO that the NMC communications broke down and did not operate the way they had it planned. The source stated that very confusing orders were issued and then countermanded, that NMC groups were dispatched to areas that had no relevance to the Inauguration activities.

The Bureau may wish to suggest to other field offices this technique in the event other offices encounter demonstrations in which the demonstrators use radios operated on the "citizen" band for communication.

Memorandum

TO : SAC, WFO

DATE: 1/21/69

FROM : SA WILFRED R. SCHLARMAN

SUBJECT: DEMPIC

During the morning of January 20, 1969, WFO commenced monitoring the citizens band frequency being utilized by the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam after previously determining this group had obtained handi-talkies on loan from the SCLC which had been used by the latter organization during the Spring of 1968 in connection with the Poor People's Campaign.

It became apparent that after monitoring for a period of approximately one hour that the National Mobilization Committee (NMC) was effectively utilizing these handi-talkies ~~in order~~ to coordinate their counter-Inaugural demonstrations as well as the placement of reserve forces and to report on police and military strength in key areas. It was additionally determined that their base of operations was identified by the call letters "KUY 5449" which had additional subcommanders known as "base one" and "base two." In turn, "base two" had four units identified as unit one located at 12th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.; unit two located at 15th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.; unit three at 14th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.; and unit four which apparently was a mobile unit.

Commencing at approximately 11:00 a.m. as the NMC began reporting on the strength of security forces, WFO began assuming the roll of base two and called for status reports from the various units under base two's control and in turn relayed fictitious and disruptive reports back to KUY 5449. At one point a Negro voice identified as "SCLC" asked for instructions from base two at which point WFO determined this group's locations and arbitrarily dispatched the SCLC group to 9th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue. This resulted in a protest from SCLC to the effect that they were to join the group at 12th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue. WFO told the SCLC that the orders had been changed. They were to proceed to 9th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue and upon arrival report the situation at that location. The SCLC group subsequently reported that they were surrounded by tourists and there was no action at that scene and requested further instructions. WFO told them to remain there until advised to the contrary. At approximately 12:00 noon the NMC finally realized instructions were being countermanded and disruptive activity was taking place whereupon base one took it upon himself to notify the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) that someone was disrupting their communications. When this was reported to KUY 5449 they responded to the effect that base one did not exercise good judgment in contacting the FCC and added he could not go into the reasons "over the radio." At this point KUY 5449 was thoroughly confused and requested base one and base two as well as other units to check in by telephone.

From approximately 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m., NMC transmissions were virtually absent from the air, however, commencing shortly after 1:00 p.m., and as the Inaugural Parade began, NMC transmissions began again. At this point and continuing to approximately 4:45 p.m., WFO continued to harass the various NMC units asking for position and status reports and relaying erroneous information back to NMC headquarters. During the conclusion of the parade as the confrontations with security authorities were taking place in the vicinity of Lafayette Park it became apparent that the NMC was trying to establish a rendezvous point for the various groups in the vicinity of Franklin Park located at 14th and K Streets, N.W., and WFO relayed instructions to various units to report to different park areas north of the White House.

WFO feels that it was instrumental through this counterintelligence technique in preventing the various NMC units from effectively coordinating counter-Inaugural activity.

Mr. Abraham Bloom
Silver Spring, Md.

Dear Mr. Bloom:

The Black United Front of Washington D.C. in its monthly meeting discussed the convention of the New Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam coming to our Black City on November 15, 1969.

Because of the expressed strong opposition to any white-lead convention in our Black City that does not deal with the colonial system of exploitation and because the membership also questioned whether the New Mobilization has any relevance to the Black-Community, we believe our commitment is to the destruction of this White-Racist Plantation System by any means possible.

As a show of good faith from the New Mobilization on its commitment to assist black people to end colonial rule, the Black United Front is thus demanding an anti-colony tax from all organizations holding conventions in our Black City.

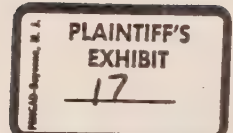

Before the Black United Front can enter into negotiations with the New Mobilization on their coming November conference, the Central Committee believes an initial contribution of $25,000 to the Black United Front is mandatory, first payment to be made within 10 days of the receipt of this letter.

The Black Community awaits your answer.

Sincerely,

Rev. Moore.

The New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC), which was formerly known as the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, is sponsoring a massive antiwar demonstration at Washington, D. C., 11/15/69. The sponsor hopes to attract 100,000 participants. The Black United Front (BUF) recently demanded that the Committee pay it $1 per demonstrator. The Front threatened to disrupt the demonstration unless this money was paid. The Reverend Douglas Moore, Chairman of the Front, has now modified this demand to asking for a flat payment of $25,000, half of which is payable shortly and the other half prior to the demonstration. The Front also is demanding that it have representation on the policy-making body of the Committee and that the Committee support its demand that Washington, D. C., be made the 51st state. USA

During a recent meeting of the Committee's Steering Committee, most of the Steering Committee were willing to accede to the Front's demand; however, cannot do so as the Committee is in debt $8,000 for its part in the demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, Illinois.

The Washington Field Office has recommended and the Bureau concurs in that recommendation that this is an ideal situation to exploit through the Counterintelligence Program.

Recipient offices are to furnish recommendations for such action to the Bureau by 8/29/69 without fail. Consideration is to be given to utilizing informants in both racial and nonracial protest groups in this matter. It is noted that the nonracial protest groups, particularly the NMC, can be accused of racism in refusing to go along with this demand. At the same time, such groups could be split further by some individuals calling the Front's demands extortion while other individuals in the group support the demands.

All recipient offices have representatives of the NMC in their areas. Sources should be immediately alerted to contact Committee leaders and members of the Steering Committee to determine their attitude to the Front's demands. Bear in mind the possibility of publicizing such attitudes and the possibility of having friendly press representatives interview these individuals on these demands. Take no counterintelligence action without Bureau approval.

NOTE:

The NMC has called for a massive demonstration at Washington, D. C., on 11/15/69. This demonstration may result in confrontation with authorities. The BUF is demanding that it be paid to let this demonstration go on in Washington, D. C. Committee members are upset over these demands and this situation offers an opportunity to divide and to embarrass them. This airtel requests recommendations from the field. This matter has been coordinated with SA [redacted] who handles cointel for the Racial Intelligence Section.

 BUDED 8/29/69

ReBuairtel to Chicago and other offices, dated
 8/21/69.

The following plans are submitted for Bureau's and other offices' consideration.

The first plan is more limited in scope and is based on the assumption that it makes no difference whether the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC) meets the Black United Front's (BUF) demands or not, and on the fact that the National Welfare Rights Organization (NWRO) has already agreed to lend its support to the NMC without any conditions attached. The NWRO is essentially a Black organization of welfare recipients. It would seem sufficient to arrange for the NWRO to receive copies of the actual BUF demands upon the NMC, either anonymously or otherwise, to start NWRO people to thinking, "Why should we poor assist the NMC for nothing when the 'fat cats' at BUF are getting paid for the promise of their support?" Logically, the NWRO should come to the conclusion that it should make similar demands on the NMC on condition that if its demands are not met, it will withdraw its support. Even if the NWRO does not reach this conclusion, it is certain that many of its members will be resentful of BUF and the NMC. On the other hand, BUF should resent the NWRO demanding its share of the "loot". This could also alienate other Black groups who may be planning to support the NMC.

The NMC will be placed in the untenable position of either meeting the demands, which would obviously weaken the organization financially and otherwise, or if it refuses, lose the Black support which it seeks. It is conceivable that the resulting situation might force the NMC to cancel its mass rally on Washington, D. C., 11/15/69.

In order to implement the foregoing, WFO would utilize sources and other means to agitate within the BUF, insisting its demands are reasonable and due the Black community; therefore, the NMC must meet them. Within NWRO, it would be argued that "we" poor people need help much more so than does BUF; that the NMC must help us, too, if it wants our support.

Field offices having NMC representation would utilize their sources in splitting the NMC. Some sources would be directed to argue that to meet the demands is "pure extortion". Others should take the position that it is the duty of white liberals everywhere to support the needs of the Black community, that this is one of the paramount goals of liberals, to fight for the eradication of racism, ghettos, poverty and inequalities between Blacks and whites, wherever they exist. Through mutual respect and cooperation, both can be more effective in their struggles against The Establishment.

This division of opinion should create serious schisms within the NMC Steering Committee and between the organizations which it represents.

WFO 100-47757

The second plan contemplates that the NMC will meet in part, at least, the BUF demands, and would not preclude execution of the first.

WFO contemplates the enlistment by the Bureau of a friendly syndicated columnist who would be fed sufficient material and leads with which he could write a special feature "expose" of the "blackmail" of the NMC by the Black militants. Even if the NMC refuses to meet any part of the demands, it would seem that a newsworthy story could be written concerning the attempted "extortion".

Assuming that the "expose" is written and picked up on one of the wire services, it would serve the purpose of alerting Black militant groups in other cities to the possibility of milking white liberals in their community. For example, the Black Panthers in Chicago might get the idea that they could demand and get money for their support of the October 11, 1969, demonstrations in connection with the conspiracy trials. This could be repeated in other areas such as New York, Los Angeles, et cetera. The resulting bickering, resentment and distrust could be fomented by sources with the hope that the New Left and the Blacks become so ineffective they will be devoting all their time and energy defending themselves. At the very least, it should turn around the tendency for groups such as the Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers to unite for common goals.

DC

According to source HOBSON expressed his willingness to speak, but stated he was aware of the demands made by the BUF on the NMC and would not speak, allow his name to be used, or sit on the platform if any collection was taken up at the rally. The Steering Committee voted to accept HOBSON's terms and have also secured the appearance of Mrs. CORETTA KING at the rally. The NMC now believes that the BUF will be most reluctant to cause any trouble.

The Steering Committee will advise Rev. DOUGLAS MOORE by letter, with copy sent to HOBSON, stating no collection will be taken up, but stating a rock and roll concert will be held and the BUF will be given a part of the profit.

WFO is of the opinion that a carefully prepared and properly worded news release passed on to reporters or columnists known to be friendly to the Bureau could result in acute embarrassment to HOBSON and cause internal dissention within the ranks of the BUF.

In this connection the article could be worded as coming from a leader of the black community, holding a high office in the BUF who leaked the story to the news media and who accuses HOBSON of revealing his true colors as an "Uncle Tom" who has sold out the interests of the black community to white intellectuals and white radicals and thus exposed his friends to a violent confrontation with the police, should disorders such as took place after Resurrection City happen during the course of the peace march.

The article should be so written that the "BUF Official" expresses his dismay that HOBSON would place his political future and personal gain before his black brothers, and allude that HOBSON may not be the best possible candidate for the D. C. School Board.

If the Bureau is of the opinion that such a counter-intelligence project, calculated to tarnish the image of JULIUS HOBSON and create internal dissention within the ranks of the BUF is desirable, WFO is prepared to forward such a release, or if the Bureau so desires, the release can be prepared at the Seat of Government.

No counterintelligence action will be initiated without prior Bureau approval.

BUF WAGES FRAUDULENT CAMPAIGN AGAINST LOCAL CHURCHES

According to a woman member of the Black United Front who "was there when Brother Carmichael called the first meeting to form the Front", the current BUF campaign against white religious groups in the Washington area is a fraud.

The lady who desired to remain anonymous told a (name of newspaper) reporter that at a meeting held on September 18, 1969, at the Douglas Memorial Methodist Church, 11th and H Streets, N.E., some shocking statements were made by BUF officials.

Chocked with emotion, this lady who "attends church every Sunday, rain or shine", stated that the Reverend Douglas E. Moore, Chairman of the BUF in announcing plans at the September meeting to move on churches and synagogues in the Washington area stated the BUF "did not contemplate receiving money from the churches", but planned to use the confrontations as "a political thing to show churches are wealthy racist organizations".

The lady related that at this point in the meeting a young woman said "when we make demands they should be so large the churches will be unable to pay" and suggested the BUF ask the synagogues for $4 billion and Protestant churches for $2 billion, "just to make sure they will be unable to meet the terms". Moore is alleged to have replied the amounts to be demanded had not been set but would be quite high.

The woman further alleged that when Reverend Moore was asked what would happen if one of the churches offered a substantial sum such as $25,000 he replied "The BUF would have no choice but to accept the money."

Describing the atmosphere as anything but religious, the woman, close to tears while relating this story, remarked: "I don't know how that preacher can make a sermon in his church on Sunday and then go out and demand money from other churches when he knows in his own heart he's playing games."

The BUF has demanded reparations from several area churches beginning on September 7, when a group of 50 blacks stood before the congregation of the Resurrection Lutheran Church in Arlington and demanded 15 per cent of the capital budgets of Arlington churches and synagogues. They sharply criticized the churches' all-white congregation, particularly Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.) who is a member.

This was followed on September 21, by a "black man's manifesto" read at St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church, demanding $25,000 cash and 50 per cent of the annual income of the church for what was termed church-sanctioned racism.

On September 22, at a press conference held shortly after 8:00 p.m., on the steps of B'nai Israel Synagogue, 4606 16th Street, N.W., a representative of the BUF asked the Washington area Jewish community to pay $10 million in reparations while on Sunday, September 28, Rev. Moore asked the National Presbyterian Church for $2 million in reparations at a talk at the 11:00 a.m. service that date.

MEMBER OF BUF EXPRESSES SHOCK AT HOBSON STAND

Washington, D. C., Oct.--An official of the Black United Front, obviously angry, expressed shock at a report he had received that Julius Hobson, militant black leader, had agreed to speak at a November rally of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam to be held in Washington, D. C., only if the NMC promised not to take up a collection for the BUF.

Clearly upset and bitter over Hobson's decision, the BUF official, who asked his name not be used, stated the BUF, recalling the violent confrontation between police and members of the black community which took place the day Resurrection City was invaded and torn down by Federal and local authorities, had asked the NMC for a payment of $25,000 to compensate blacks should a recurrence of such brutal attacks take place.

The BUF official stated it was feared white radicals would create a confrontation which would spill over into neighborhoods populated by blacks who comprise over 70% of the population and result in indiscriminate tear-gas attacks on demonstrators which would work undue hardship and suffering on innocent black people.

The BUF official stated Hobson's actions clearly revealed him to be an "Uncle Tom", willing to sell out the interests of the black community to white intellectuals and radicals, thus exposing his black brothers to a violent confrontation with the police should disorders take place during peace movement demonstrations. He expressed dismay Hobson would place political expediency and personal gain before the welfare of the black community and wondered if Hobson was, indeed, a suitable candidate for the District of Columbia School Board during a critical period in which the needs of black children was of paramount importance.

Re WFO airtels 9/24/69 and 10/1/69.

In connection with the demand made by the Black United Front (BUF) that the New Mobilization Committee to End the War (NMC) pay BUF $25,000 for its assistance in the NMC rally scheduled for Washington on 11/15/69, [redacted] at a BUF committee meeting a letter from NMC was read. This letter stated that the NMC will not meet BUF's demand for $25,000 but is willing to hold a joint fund raising benefit of some kind.

Since the NMC letter has been made public to BUF members, WFO suggests that it is an appropriate time for the press release captioned "Member of BUF Expresses Shock at Hobson Stand" to be provided to press sources friendly to the Bureau, if the Bureau so desires.

FROM : SAC, NEW YORK (100-163303) (P)

DATE: 10/10/69

Enclosed are two copies of a suggested leaflet entitled "Give Them Bananas!", designed to widen the rift between the New Mobilization Committee To End The War In Vietnam (NMC) and the Black United Front (BUF) over the BUF demand that NMC "pay" for their planned March on Washington 11/15/69.

Enclosed leaflet has been written in the jargon of the New Left, necessitating the use of a certain amount of profanity.

It is realized this material is racial in tone but it is believed this is the one point of vulnerability in the NMC - BUF combination.

Bureau authority is requested to prepare and mail anonymously the enclosed leaflet to selected individuals active in the NMC and BUF both in the New York and Washington areas.

It is intended that this mailing would be completed prior to the 11/15/69 demonstration.

Give Them BANANAS!

We see where the New Mobilization Committee - organizing group for the march on Washington November 15th - has had the blocks thrown to it by the so-called BLACK UNITED FRONT, which demands much bread for any peace activity in the American capital.

BUF leader, the Rev. Douglas Moore, at first requested the modest sum of a buck a head - hoping to blast a hundred grand out of poor old NMC. Later, he asked for a mere $25,000. Right now the Zulu King would settle for two-bits if it came from the blood and sweat of the movement. Mr. Moore, whose brain is as sharp as a limp dishrag, is nothing but a black blackmailer.....his stock in trade is the color of his skin. His built in prejudices against whites are typical of those arising from the festering sores of ignorance and lack of intelligence. We might mention Mr. Moore's fantastic grasp of the English language - sometimes his grunts actually make sense. Not a bad fellow, really for he does like colored balls and old automobile tires.

Well, to get back to the BUF blackmail ploy. The march for peace will go on as scheduled in spite of any blackbirds who try to shit on it. Mr. Moore and his peck or herd or pride or whatever you call a group of bloodsucking animals, are in for a shock. We say: if they must get something in return for their non-violence towards NMC during these days of demonstrations, give them BANANAS - all they can eat.

We'll be in Washington on November 15th, Douglas. You can mark that on your calendar in RED, pal. If you won't join us you're against us. It's as simple as that. We consider you and your kind as black bandits and the most dangerous of the elements eating away at the movement.

The Steering Committee of NMC can feed you all the shit they want, Mr. Moore but lip-service isn't money...none that you'll ever see.

Suck on your bananas, brother and someday you might learn how to make fire or build a wheel.

Affectionately,

Sid

NOTE:

By relet, New York submitted a leaflet captioned "Give Them Bananas." This leaflet is highly critical of Black United Front (BUF) leader the Rev. Douglas Moore. The leaflet is based upon the fact that the BUF has demanded payments from the New Mobilization Committee (NMC) as a price for its support of the 11/15/69 demonstrations which are to be held in Washington, D. C., and sponsored by the NMC. We have been trying to create a split between these two groups based upon this demand. This leaflet may serve such a purpose.

This memorandum recommends approval for distribution under the Mass Media Program of a blind memorandum revealing evidence of the growing dissatisfaction of militant blacks with the New Left.

At a recent conference of the United Front Against Fascism held in Oakland, Calif., and sponsored by the Black Panther Party (BPP), one of the resolutions adopted was that a petition for community control of police departments should be circulated in the black, brown and white communities. Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) has balked at the idea of white community control of its police force. This has resulted in vitriolic attacks on SDS by leaders of the BPP and SDS has ineffectively explained its position.

Previous information has also been developed that the New Mobilization Committee (NNC), which under the name of the National Mobilization Committee sponsored demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention and the Presidential inauguration, has made plans for a demonstration in Washington, D. C., on 11/15/69 to protest the war. The Black United Front (BUF) in Washington, D. C., has demanded of this group $25,000 in order to receive its support.

In order to further split the black militants from the New Left, it appears that should this information be publicized it will create dissension within both the New Left and black militant groups. A blind memorandum setting forth this information has been prepared which could be used by a nationally syndicated columnist to focus attention on this developing situation.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the enclosed memorandum be approved and forwarded to the Crime Records Division for use in the Mass Media Program.

THE WIDENING RIFT

From all appearances, the honeymoon between the black militants and the New Leftists is about over.

An indication of this state of affairs is the recent disclosure in "New Left Notes," the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) organ, and "The Black Panther," the official publication of the Black Panther Party (BPP), that these two organizations have fallen out over the issue of community control of the police. A decision to call for such control, reached at a recent United Front Against Fascism Conference held in Oakland, California, and sponsored by the BPP, was more of a hurdle than SDS could take. SDS balked at white community control of police. In a subsequent statement by David Hilliard, a BPP official, printed in the Party's newspaper, the rift between these organizations was brought into the open. Hilliard charged SDS with slogan hawking and not being revolutionaries. In the usual gutter vernacular, he berated SDS as nationally chauvinistic and nationally socialistic.

SDS subsequently answered Hilliard (if that is what it could be considered) in a wishy-washy statement printed in its publication, "New Left Notes." In this statement, SDS called the whole thing a misunderstanding based on faulty information about SDS's position. It characterized itself as being dedicated to building a revolutionary youth movement among white youth of the "mother country." This latter statement has not set well with black militants.

More recent evidence of this rift is indicated by demands recently made by the Black United Front (BUF) in Washington, D. C., on the New Mobilization Committee (NMC). This latter group, under the name of National Mobilization Committee, sponsored such demonstrations as those which were held in Washington, D. C., during the inauguration of President Nixon and during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. The NMC has been organizing a demonstration which is to be held in the Nation's capital on November 15, 1969, which will protest the war in Vietnam. The BUF first notified NMC that it would demand that NMC pay BUF $1 per head for each demonstrator coming to

The Widening Rift

Washington, D. C., for this demonstration as a price for its support of the demonstration. It later modified this demand to ask for a flat $25,000 for its support. This demand poses a real problem for NMC since that organization is still in debt from the demonstrations it has sponsored in the past. It also poses tricky ideological problems. Some Committee leaders feel this is out-and-out extortion by the blacks and that it should not be paid. Others feel that the funds should be paid if possible, but the question then arises what about other Negro organizations which might be even more deserving of the funds than BUF. For instance, such an organization as the National Welfare Rights Organization, which is composed of black welfare recipients, might have a better claim to these funds. It also poses other interesting possibilities which the New Leftists are not anxious to face. That is, will this be a recurring demand which can be expected in the future from the blacks. If such is the case, it would become an additional burden for the protest movement. It is obvious that this situation must be handled with kid gloves for if the blacks are alienated, hope for success for any protest movement in Washington, D. C., will be eliminated.

It appears, therefore, that militant blacks are becoming increasingly unwilling to accept the leadership of the white New Left movement, but are ready to strike out on their own to seek objectives which, up to now, have only been secondary in the scheme of things as far as the leftists are concerned.

Issue #2

WHAT IS THE RATIONAL OBSERVER?

It is an attempt by a small group of students, who love democracy, to preserve democracy and who believe that evil exposed is evil eliminated.

It is unfortunate we cannot identify ourselves for we take classes with some who do not believe in freedom and grade accordingly.

The purposes and aims of this paper are not to stifle dissent but to expose charlatans of the right, left and middle, whether they be in government, industry, clergy, labor or the academic world; to expose those who capitalize on legitimate dissent for their own selfish purposes or concede to pressure groups the rights of the orderly.

WILLIAM H. LEONHART

Bill -- Thanks for your criticism, but we think most of it was inundated in your tidal wave of intellectual egotism.

MAO TSE-TUNG

The SDS and PLP revolutionaries take great pride in quoting their hero, Mao Tse-tung. We also will quote him: "The only way to settle questions of an ideological nature or controversial issue among the people is by the democratic method, the method of discussion, of criticism, or persuasion and education, and not by the method of coercion or repression."

"The New Right" Trades
Foresight for Hindsight

A recent issue of "The New Right," a publication of the National Youth Alliance, gave voice to Minutemen propaganda that attributed the relative racial calm during 1968 to a "communist plot." According to this sort of hairy-handed conservative thought process, communist and Black Power leaders decided that it was not going to be possible to provoke a full scale race war during 1968 and went fishing. This shrewd maneuver left the scene open to the "hippies and unorganized rabble" to make a "token demonstration"! (It seems the Chicago demonstrations during the Democratic Convention did not measure up to Minutemen expectations.)

Elsewhere, "The New Right" quotes Robert DePugh, National Leader of the Minutemen now in federal custody and charged with conspiracy to recruit money from banks. DePugh is attributed with saying that if the government were fighting communism as hard as they are fighting the Minutemen there would be no fighting in the streets. No mention was made of possible fighting in the hills.

Also contained in this issue was an interesting, objective appraisal of the District Attorney Jim Garrison probe. It is unfortunate that also set out was material from the scruffy Statecraft, a publication devoted more to sophomoric blandishments of hate rather than efforts to separate the trees of bigots from the forest of conservatives.

A real contribution was offered by the National Youth Alliance of Birmingham-Bloomfield NYA which will furnish free information concerning dangerous drugs.

However, if you insist on beating your head against the "Wall," the Patriotic Party and Mr. DePugh of Independence, Missouri, will send you for $5 a one hour talk-tape entitled, "Campaign Promises vs. National Survival."

SDS Peaceful Demonstration in Chicago, October 8-11, 1969

The SDS has been publishing much information about bringing the war home. It looks like they have taken the first step. Our reporters have learned the SDS in Washington, D.C. went to Chicago loaded down with steel helmets, baseball bats, lengths of chain and the will to use them.

Last week one of our reporters happened by chance to obtain a copy of the "Underground Press Directory," published by "Counterpoint, Box 396, Stevens Point, Wisconsin, 54468." It is interesting to note that our very own campus newspaper "The Eagle" had suddenly rated the notorious and unbecoming title as a member of the "Underground Press."

All of us, as students of American University, pay for the "Eagle" (not altogether voluntarily), through our student activities fees. It seems to us that campus newspapers which are funded by all the students are not meant to be political in nature but rather to report campus news. We can all voluntarily buy "The Evening Star," "The Free Press," or whatever other presentation of the news we desire. Yet, those of us who may find disagreement with the editorializing of "The Eagle" must pay for it.

We don't care whether campus newspapers are in support of the "left" or the "right." The fact remains that it is an organ of the student body and therefore should reflect the interests of all the students. Those who wish to buy "underground" newspapers can simply buy "Quicksilver Times" or "The Free Press" which are both distributed regularly on campus.

Last year an injunction was filed against the "Eagle." Perhaps, those who are interested enough can repeat this necessary step to force an objective investigation of the facts.

WHAT IS THE SMC?

The SMC is a YSA controlled organization. The YSA is the youth group of the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyite organization. The Trotskyites are Marxist revolutionaries who believe in the overthrow through the use of force and violence of the United States Government.

This is being published for the information of those students who are genuinely concerned about the war in Vietnam and who have aligned themselves with an organization whose motives concerning the war in Vietnam are far from being desirable.

FLAG BURNING AT AU

Does the student body of AU know that an American flag was burned on the campus of American University? Do you condone this sort of action?

Make your sentiments known to the Administration and the "Eagle."

Potential Counterintelligence Action

Potential for counterintelligence activities lies in the political differences which are prevalent in the groups which make up the New Left and in black-white separatism.

Through the use of sources and propaganda media, these differences can be accentuated and the breach which presently exists be widened.

Pending Counterintelligence Action

WFO will maintain contact with its sources in anti-communist moderate organizations and will furnish public source information to them concerning New Left organizations and their members which can be utilized in producing anti-New Left propaganda and activities.

WFO has produced a newsletter which is being distributed on a university campus. This paper is designed to stimulate conservative students into taking a greater interest in campus activities and engaging in nonviolent counter New Left activities.

This paper can be utilized to expose the evils of the New Left and to act as an anti-New Left outlet for the silent majority.

NEW MOBILIZATION COMMITTEE TO END THE WAR IN VIETNAM
1029 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005
Area Code 212 737-8600

MEMO TO: National Steering Committee

RE: The Absolute Racial Imbalance of The NSC

Having for a short time served as a member of the NSC, and currently active in the Moratorium Committee - both in Washington and New York, I find it necessary to call attention to certain facts overlooked or shovelled under the rug by NMC leadership.

My understanding at the time I joined NMC was that it was to be run as a non-exclusionary organization - devoted to one primary cause, the immediate end of the frightful war in Vietnam. We were not to be side-tracked into supporting the aims of the militant left. We were not to be sucked into protests against the government's trial of the Conspiracy 8 in Chicago and the like. Our sights were to be adjusted at some later time when the war terminated. Or, so I thought.

Over the past several years the Trotskyites have literally taken control of the body proper and have repeatedly resisted efforts to recruit black brothers into NMC leadership. In addition, they have seen fit to use the good offices of the NMC to further their own political aspirations, nebulous as they are.

I have been sickened - on more than one occasion - by the promises made to the Black United Front, promises not kept, promises made with the mouth and not the heart. The attitude of the Steering Committee towards the BUF was and is a matter of disgrace. In the main, NMC leadership has been no better than the racist politicians and phony liberals who give lip service to the black community and turn their backs on any positive action.

The NMC leadership has demonstrated an appalling lack of sensitivity towards the largest minority in the country. If NMC is to survive the coming months, the situation must be rectified immediately. Our leadership - including the omni-present Trotskyites and other radicals - had better take positive steps before those who disagree with current policy, and there are many, either withhold future support or take decisive action to remove NMC leadership. It is my belief the NMC would greatly benefit under a leader like Sam Brown of MC.

To avoid senseless imbroglio, I choose to remain anonymous until the proper time. Just for the record - I am not Black.....

SUBJECT:

DISRUPTION PROGRAM
IS-SWP

ReNYlet, 12/30/69.

Enclosed for the Bureau is a copy of an unsigned leaflet entitled "Fly United?", mailed this past week to some 230 selected individuals and organizations in New Left and related groups under the COINTELPRO at New York with prior Bureau authority.

The leaflet is designed to cause disruption in the peace movement, primarily in the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, and to minimize the growing influence of the SWP in the movement. It is also designed to cause consternation and confusion in the SWP itself.

The enclosed has been marked "Obscene" because of its contents. The copy program on the leaflet has been written in the jargon of the New Left, necessitating the use of a certain amount of profanity.

Copies of the leaflet have been mailed to members of the SWP, its youth group the Young Socialist Alliance, the Student Mobilization Committee, CP-USA, DCA and other groups.

No tangible results have been detected at this early date, although one source, [redacted] has attributed the leaflet to dissident elements in the New Mobilization Committee.

The Bureau will be kept advised of reported results.

1 - Mr. Wannall

O SUPERVISION - S. A. H.

To afford additional security to our sensitive techniques and operations, it is recommended the COINTELPROS operated by the Domestic Intelligence Division be discontinued.

At the present time this Division operates several COINTELPROS as follows:

COINTELPRO - Espionage
COINTELPRO - Disruption of White Hate Groups
COINTELPRO - Communist Party, USA
Counterintelligence and Special Operations
COINTELPRO - Black Extremists
Socialist Workers Party - Disruption Program

These programs involve a variety of sensitive intelligence techniques and disruptive activities which are afforded close supervision at the Seat of Government. They have been carefully supervised with all actions being afforded prior Bureau approval and an effort has been made to avoid engaging in harassment. Although successful over the years, it is felt they should now be discontinued for security reasons because of their sensitivity.

In exceptional instances where counterintelligence action is warranted, it will be considered on a highly selective individual basis with tight procedures to insure absolute security.

ACTION:

If approved, attached airtel will be sent to all field offices discontinuing our COINTELPROS.

The NCCF is the organizing bureau of the Black Panther Party (BPP). It is active in the sale of "The Black Panther" newspaper in WDC, and

6. Type of case involved: receives direction from National Headquarters, Berkeley, California. The BPP was started during December, 1966, in Oakland, Calif., to organize black people to take control of the life politics, and destiny of the black community. The official newspaper, "The Black Panther", states that the BPP advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics in its revolutionary program to end oppression of the black people. Residents of the black community are urged to arm themselves against the police who are consistently referred to as "pigs" who should be killed.

7. Connection or status of subject in the case:

NA

8. Specific information being sought: Information regarding the revolution program, teachings, and policies of the NCCF-BPP. Acts and attempted acts in furtherance thereof. Identification of NCCF members and sympathizers, cohesion or unity between National and Local chapters, visits by national officers or representatives to local chapters, guidance and direction from headquarters or request for same by local chapters.

9. Reasons for believing the specific information will be obtained by the technical surveillance: Investigation has determined that the local chapter NCCF, WDC, is in contact with other NCCF chapters in the U.S., including BPP National Headquarters, Berkeley, Calif. JAMES EUGENE WILLIAMS, JR., Chairman, NCCF Chapter, WDC, received instructions from BPP National Headquarters, Berkeley, to report to National Headquarters during April, 1970. WILLIAMS has also received instructions from the Philadelphia Branch regarding the printing of material.

10. Importance of case and subject: The NCCF-BPP is rapidly expanding throughout the U.S. and is a growing threat to the national security. It claims the vanguard role in the revolution and in their vociferous advocacy of assassination of law enforcement and other officials.

Method of operation includes instruction of members in use of firearms, explosives, and other destructive techniques.

11. Possibilities of obtaining desired information by other means
(Explain in detail): Vigorous efforts are being made by WFO to develop live informant coverage to effect intensive penetration, especially in higher levels of WDC chapter. WFO is of opinion that an aggressive program aimed toward identifying local members, sympathizers; cohesion, guidance, and direction from BPP National Headquarters, travel plans of national and local members warrants total utilization of available techniques. Together with available live informant coverage, technical coverage requested will provide WFO with an increased sphere of knowledge into the overall activities of the NCCF-BPP which will further assist this office in analyzing, evaluating, and anticipating future NCCF-BPP activities in the Washington area not presently available through other source coverage.

12. Risks of detection involved:

This is to recommend that attached memorandum be directed to the Attorney General requesting authority to institute a telephone surveillance on the office of the Black Panther Party (BPP) front group, the National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF) in Washington, D. C.

The BPP is the most violent black organization on the scene today, and represents the most serious threat to the internal security of the country as a result of its revolutionary aims. The NCCF is described as an organizing bureau of the BPP. It is actually a BPP chapter under the strict discipline of the BPP national headquarters.

The NCCF in Washington, D. C., is located at 2387 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., and serves as a residence for some of the members. It has a membership of from 10 - 20. The NCCF shares office space with the Patriot Party, a group of radical whites concerned with aiding the oppressed whites and advocating the teachings of Marxism and of the BPP. The NCCF and the Patriot Party have joined forces to form the Rainbow Coalition with the alleged purpose of combating fascism. The NCCF has increased activities since formed in November, 1969. The NCCF sells BPP newspapers, has representatives speaking at high schools, colleges and rallies, and distributes inflammatory literature. NCCF is interested in obtaining firearms and one shoulder weapon recently was observed being taken into NCCF headquarters.

There are currently 37 telephone surveillances in operation and two additional ones are awaiting installation in cases being handled by the Domestic Intelligence Division. Approval of this request will bring the total to 40.

In view of the violence-prone nature of the BPP, it can be anticipated subjects involved in past or future criminal violations may be monitored. We have previously pointed this out to the Attorney General and he has furnished guidelines regulating actions to be taken in such instances. If you approve this installation, these guidelines will be followed by the Washington Field Office.

Washington Field Office has advised this installation is feasible, no trespass will be involved, and full security is assured.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached memorandum be sent to the Attorney General in line with the above.

ADDENDUM OF W. B. SOYARS, JR. 5-21-70 WBS:crt

This requests a new telephone surveillance be authorized on office of front group of Black Panther Party (BPP), Washington, D. C. Potential for obtaining good intelligence data is present.

We are operating or have approval for 39 telephone surveillances. If approval granted this new telephone surveillance would bring us to our limit of 40.

We have 8 other telephone surveillances on BPP offices (Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New Haven, San Francisco (2)) and New York City (2)) and have Attorney General authorization for one more in New York City which is not yet installed. Thus, approval of this new telephone surveillance will bring to 10 the number of such sources covering BPP activities.

Approval recommended. ✓

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

RE: BLACK PANTHER PARTY -
NATIONAL COMMITTEE TO COMBAT FASCISM
WASHINGTON FIELD OFFICE

The Black Panther Party (BPP) is a black extremist organization with national headquarters in Berkeley, California, and has affiliated groups in 39 cities throughout the United States with a hard-core membership of approximately 900. The National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF), which is described as an organizing bureau of the BPP, has been formed in Washington, D. C. It is actually a BPP Chapter under the strict discipline of the BPP national headquarters. Its headquarters in Washington, D. C., is located at 2337 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

The public statements of the leaders of the BPP repeatedly stress that the organization's objective is an armed black revolution against the Government of the United States by means of guerrilla warfare. Information is regularly received showing that its members are required to possess guns and have been instructed in their use. They have been trained in the preparation of fire bombs and explosives. The organization strongly supports the Cuban and Chinese Communist revolutionaries.

The NCCF in Washington, D. C., has a membership of from 10 to 20. [REDACTED]

D [REDACTED]

The NCCF, since its formation in November, 1969, by members of the BPP, has increased its activities considerably. Members now sell the Black Panther newspaper, speak at high schools, colleges and rallies, and distribute inflammatory literature. Information recently obtained indicates its members are interested in obtaining firearms and one source has reported seeing a shoulder weapon being taken into the NCCF headquarters.

The telephone surveillance on the BPP national headquarters, which has been authorized by you, has proven to be most valuable. Information so received indicates almost daily contact between the Washington, D. C., NCCF and the national BPP headquarters. It is felt that the installation of a telephone surveillance at the NCCF in Washington, D. C., will not only furnish valuable information concerning the revolutionary activities of the BPP in the United States, but will also furnish information regarding any violent actions that may be planned against top officials of this country. Live informants are furnishing information regarding activities of this group but additional coverage is vital to insure awareness of all revolutionary activities of the organization.

It is requested that authority be granted for a telephone surveillance on the NCCF located at 2387 18th Street, N. Washington, D. C. Interception will be away from this address and no trespass is involved.

This is to recommend that the attached memorandum be directed to the Attorney General (AG) requesting authority to continue our telephone surveillance on the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the violence-prone BPP, located at 2327 18th Street, N.W., and 1932 17th Street, N.W., both in Washington, D. C.

On 5/21/70 the AG approved a telephone surveillance (tesur) of the National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF) headquarters at 2327 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. By memorandum dated 7/21/70 we advised the AG that the NCCF in Washington, D. C., had become a recognized chapter of the BPP and due to increased activity expanded its headquarters and obtained additional space at 1932 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. We advised the AG that we were installing a tesur at this new address while continuing our coverage at 2327 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

This coverage continually provides highly valuable data regarding BPP operations in Washington, D. C., and also information concerning visits of national officers of the BPP to Washington, D. C., to attend various BPP functions.

Examples of the type of data received include: (1) Identities of the organizers of the Rally in Support of the Black Panther Party held 6/19/70 in Washington, D. C. (2) Advance information concerning identities of the speakers to appear at the Rally in Support of the Black Panther Party. (3) Information that a group in Alexandria, Virginia, was interested in forming a BPP branch in that city at the location, 600 North West Street, Alexandria, Virginia. (4) On 7/11/70 it was learned members of the BPP chapter in Washington, D. C., were going to a staff meeting in New York City on 7/12/70. (5) On 7/24/70, information developed that a planning session was to be held at Howard University, Washington, D. C., 8/8-9/70. This planning session was in connection with the BPP chapter in Washington, D. C. 105-165706 Sub 53

RE: BLACK PANTHER PARTY
WASHINGTON, D. C.

You previously authorized on May 21, 1970, a telephone surveillance on the Washington, D. C., chapter of the National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF) located at 2327 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

You were advised by memorandum dated July 21, 1970, that the NCCF in Washington, D. C., was recognized as an official chapter of the Black Panther Party (BPP) and that due to a division of the BPP headquarters, a telephone surveillance was being installed at an additional office of the BPP located at 1932 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. The telephone surveillance was continued at the BPP office located at 2327 18th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. This coverage continually provides highly valuable data regarding BPP operations in Washington, D. C., and also information concerning visits of national officers of the BPP to Washington, D. C., to attend various BPP functions. This necessary information is not available from any live source.

Examples of the type of data received include:
(1) Identities of the organizers of the Rally in Support of the Black Panther Party held June 19, 1970, in Washington, D. C. (2) Advance information concerning identities of the speakers to appear at the Rally in Support of the Black Panther Party. (3) Information that a group in Alexandria, Virginia, was interested in forming a BPP branch in that city at the location, 600 North West Street, Alexandria, Virginia. (4) On July 11, 1970, it was learned members of the BPP chapter in Washington, D. C., were going to a staff meeting in New York City on July 12, 1970. (5) On July 24, 1970, information was developed that a planning session was to be held at Howard University, Washington, D. C., August 8 and 9, 1970. This planning session was in connection with the BPP-organized Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention to be held November 4, 1970, at an undesignated location. (6) On August 5, 1970, [REDACTED] indicated an interest in forming a chapter of the BPP in Charlottesville, Virginia. (7) During the period July 29 through August 6, 1970, various individuals interested in participating in the planning session at Howard University on August 8 and 9, 1970, were identified. (8) Source also has provided during this period information concerning travel of BPP leaders and has led to the identification of many persons lending support to or expressing interest in the BPP in Washington, D. C.

The monitoring of this surveillance will be conducted in accordance with instructions contained in your letter of July 14, 1969, entitled "Electronic Surveillances." Your authority is requested to continue this telephone surveillance on the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the BPP at 2327 18th Street, N.W., and at 1932 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D. Your attention is called to SAC Letter 69-31 (D) concerning the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. The AG approved these surveillances with the understanding they will not only furnish intelligence-type information, but also it is anticipated results from the surveillances will be introduced in evidence or leads to evidence in a court of law. Accordingly, certain additional information must be furnished him as noted on page five of this SAC Letter. It is further noted that requests of this type coverage should be for no longer than a period of 30 days subject to requests for extension.

You must submit a 30-day justification letter (FD-143) on each surveillance. To insure that the AG is in receipt of justification memoranda in sufficient time, you must submit FD-143s justifying these surveillances and including all pertinent data as noted in the SAC Letter to reach Bureau no later than 4/26/71.

Recommends installation of telephone surveillances (tesurs) at PCPJ headquarters, 1029 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D. C. (WDC); Essentially two main groups are behind plans for massive antiwar demonstrations in WDC during April and May, 1971. The National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC), stepchild of the Socialist Workers Party, Young Socialist Alliance, and Student Mobilization Committee, is thoroughly Trotskyist controlled and continues planning for peaceful demonstrations. The PCPJ, Communist Party, USA, and New Left extremist infiltrated by Rennie Davis, convicted Chicago Seven Conspiracy trial defendant, plans civil disobedience and is not opposed to violence.

live coverage of PCPJ with its strict security, drug users, and absolute paranoia about police infiltration, has been practically impossible.

In the interim, with each successive day our existing source coverage of PCPJ develops pieces of information portending of potential bombings, civil disobedience, guerrilla tactics, disruption of essential Government functions, and even possible kidnaping of officials in the WDC area during Spring, 1971. It appears Davis intends to use thousands of demonstrators.

massed in WDC as cover for hit-and-run activities of well-trained terrorist cadres, possibly coordinating some actions with Weatherman. Davis has called for May, 1971, to be the "heaviest thing ever" and a "month of rage" as opposed to the Weatherman "days of rage" in 1969. Reference is made to your letter May 6, 1969, concerning the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

The National Coalition Against War, Racism, and Repression (NCAWRR) evolved out of the Strategy Action Conferences (SAC) which took place during June and September, 1970, at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The SAC brought together organizations previously active in the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC), which had been the guiding force in the massive anti-war demonstrations which took place in Washington, D.C., during November, 1969, and May, 1970. The NCAWRR, at a "Continuations Committee" meeting which took place at Detroit, Michigan, during January, 1971, changed its name to the "Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice." This organization has interjected issues such as poverty, racism, repression, and women's rights into the antiwar movement on the premise that the war in Vietnam has a definite effect upon these problems.

The PCPJ, infiltrated by members of the Communist Party, USA, and New Left extremists, is led by Bernard Gordon Davis, also known as Rennie Davis, convicted Chicago Seven Conspiracy trial defendant. During April and May, 1971, in Washington, D.C., PCPJ is planning massive antiwar demonstrations which currently call for civil disobedience, including block of major arteries into Washington.

D [shaping up as a focal point for planning of violent demonstration activities. Informant coverage of PCPJ, [redacted] which is made up of drug users who appear to suffer a paranoid fear of police infiltration, has been practically impossible.]

D [The existing live informant coverage of PCPJ [redacted] continues to develop fragments of information indicating potential bombings, civil disobedience, guerrilla tactics, disruption of essential Government functions, and even the possibility of kidnappings of Government officials during the Spring of 1971. It appears that Davis intends to use the thousands of demonstrators who will be massed in Washington as a cover for hit-and-run tactics by well-trained cadres throughout Washington, possibly with coordinated or uncoordinated assistance from Weatherman. Davis has called for May, 1971, to be the "heaviest thing ever" and a "month of rage" as opposed to the so-called "days of rage" in 1969.]

D [The [redacted] key locations involved in the plotting and planning for the PCPJ actions include PCPJ headquarters, 1029 Vermont Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C.: [redacted]]

Consequently, it is probable that conversations of these suspects, as well as those involving Rennie Davis, would be intercepted by telephone surveillances of these locations. It is possible that any individual whose conversation is intercepted at these locations may become the subject of either local or Federal criminal violations.

It is felt that telephone surveillances of the above-described locations will provide vital information regarding possible violence and destruction in Washington, D.C., during Spring, 1971. It is also anticipated that

In line with instructions on page five of your referenced letter, the following information is set forth:

D 1. It is believed that [redacted] and other individuals having access to these locations may become involved in violations of the Antiriot Law statute, the Destruction of Government Property statute and the Sabotage statute.

D Consequently, it is probable that conversations of these suspects, as well as those involving Rennie Davis, would be intercepted by telephone surveillances of these locations. It is possible that any individual whose conversation is intercepted at these locations may become the subject of either local or Federal criminal violations. (TW)

It is felt that telephone surveillances of the above-described locations will provide vital information regarding possible violence and destruction in Washington, D.C., during Spring, 1971. It is also anticipated that results of these telephone surveillances will be introduced as evidence in court or that leads to evidence may be obtained; therefore, this request is being made not only for the purpose of obtaining intelligence-type information but also on the basis that evidence will be obtained that will be used in court. In line with instructions on page five of your referenced letter, the following information is set forth: (u)

D 1. It is believed that [redacted] and other individuals having access to these locations may become involved in violations of the Antiriot Law statute, the Destruction of Government Property statute and the Sabotage statute.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

RE: DEMONSTRATIONS SPONSORED BY PEOPLES
COALITION FOR PEACE AND JUSTICE (PCPJ),
WASHINGTON, D.C., MAY, 1971
INTERNAL SECURITY

Reference is made to memorandum of this Bureau dated March 30, 1971, concerning captioned demonstrations. u

By approval of that memorandum on March 30, 1971, you authorized the installation of telephone surveillances at 1029 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C.; [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] for a period of 30 days. (S) (u)

You were previously advised that the PCPJ, infiltrated by members of the Communist Party, USA, and New Left extremists, is led by Rennard Cordon Davis, also known as Rennie Davis, convicted Chicago Conspiracy trial defendant. During April and May, 1971, in Washington, D.C., PCPJ is planning massive antiwar demonstrations which currently call for civil disobedience, including blocking of major arteries into Washington, D.C. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] is the local point for planning of violent [REDACTED] activities. Informant coverage of PCPJ, [REDACTED] which is made up of drug users who appear to suffer a paranoid fear of police infiltration, has been practically impossible. You were also advised that the addresses mentioned above, for which you authorized telephone surveillances, represent the [REDACTED] key locations involved in the planning and plotting for PCPJ actions. Memorandum for the Attorney General (u)

Since the installation of these surveillances, information has been developed, on a daily basis, regarding plans, movements and activities of individuals responsible for the massive demonstration in Washington, D.C., on April 24, 1971, and who plan violence and civil disobedience during May, 1971. For example, information was developed that a group planned to break away from the massive demonstration in Washington, D.C., on April 24, 1971, and attempt to take over the South Vietnamese Embassy by way of Dupont Circle. This information enabled the Metropolitan Police Department to effectively block Dupont Circle well in advance of the approaching demonstrators and thwart this plan. In addition, this coverage developed information regarding a schism which developed between the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC) and the PCPJ, which cosponsored the demonstration on April 24, 1971, due to NPAC fears that PCPJ was planning violence. These surveillances also enabled this Bureau to follow closely the activities of many of the major suspects in the bombing of the U. S. Capitol on March 1, 1971, and other New Left extremists who might actively engage in violence and terrorism during May, 1971. (u)

D The period which offers the greatest potential for violence and civil disobedience in Washington, D.C., continues to be the first week in May, 1971. It is expected that these telephone surveillances will continue to furnish this Bureau detailed advance plans of PCPJ [redacted] to engage in such violence and civil disobedience. There is also the continued possibility that information will be developed regarding plans of these groups and individuals to violate the Antiriot Law statute, the Destruction of Government Property statute and the Sabotage statute. (u)

Your authority is requested to continue the telephone surveillances at 1029 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C.; [redacted]

D [redacted] for a period of 30 days, effective April 30, 1971. (u)

J. Edgar Hoover

ReBulet 5/10/68.

Enclosed for the Bureau are two copies of an article appearing in the 7/14-24/70 issue of the "Quicksilver Times", an underground type newspaper distributed in the WDC area.

On 7/6/70 the Weathermen SDS fugitives were reassigned from a Criminal - Fugitive squad in WFO to the Security - New Left squad. Upon receiving these cases an intensive interview program in the New Left community was instituted by security squad Buagents.

This program has produced tangible results in the disruption of the day to day activities in the New Left communes, and is also being utilized as a vehicle for the development of informants in this area. Evidence of this disruption can be seen by the fact the "Quicksilver Times" felt it was necessary to devote space to counsel New Left individuals with respect to their legal rights during contacts with the FBI.

The tone of the article indicates that WFO contacts have aroused a great deal of anxiety in the New Left community, and WFO will aggressively continue this program.

PENDING COUNTER INTELLIGENCE ACTION

WFO has recently developed a close liaison with several WDC realty companies which has provided good coverage of commune type dwellings in the WDC area. This relationship has also provided WFO with two Bureau approved, sources one of which was converted from a PSI to Prob. The other source remains a CS. Another advantage this program has provided is the breaking up of certain communes when it was agreeable to the best interests of the realty company and the Bureau. Efforts to maintain this liaison and to expand it are continuing.

WFO has also developed a close confidential relationship with one of the administrators of the District of Columbia Welfare Office. This liaison was developed when it was learned that several of WFO's subjects are receiving welfare funds and food stamps. This source has provided valuable background and current whereabouts information on WFO subjects. This source has also been used on occasion to have subjects removed from the welfare roles when information concerning the person's lack of qualifications was confidentially provided to the welfare office. Care had been exercised that the Bureau would not appear to be the source of this information, and in no case was any material provided which could be used to embarrass the Bureau.

In an attempt to play upon the seemingly inherent paranoia of the new left community WFO Agents have pursued a program of intensive physical surveillance and interviews of persons with knowledge of new left activity. This program has enhanced the fear that many of the new left people have in those around them, and this fear has manifested itself in dissension and mistrust. This program has also provided benefits in that certain activities of WFO subjects have become more familiar to the case Agent handling that subject.

WFO has also increased its informant coverage in the new left field through an organized program of contacting returning servicemen and more mature college students. This program has produced tangible benefits by providing WFO with informant coverage in new and broader areas.

TANGIBLE RESULTS OF COUNTER INTELLIGENCE ACTION

As has already been indicated in the previous section, tangible benefits in the various programs undertaken by WFO have been evident through the closing of several of the communes in the area, the increased informant coverage, and the removal of WFO subjects from the District of Columbia welfare roles. The fact that no major new left group has made WDC its main base of operation has hampered the creation of a concerted action against any organization, but WFO will remain alert to any possibilities in this respect.

POTENTIAL COUNTER INTELLIGENCE ACTION

WFO has as a confidential source an experienced and able photographer who has in the past provided photographic coverage in many important areas. WFO is currently considering an idea whereby this person would be established in a free lance business making a documentary of the new left movement. Such a project would have many potential aspects which could be exploited as counter-intelligence measures against the New Left. The second purpose of this program would be to make the source better known and more accepted in the movement which could increase the source's value greatly. WFO intends to develop and present a plan for approval of this program within the coming period.

Government of the District of Columbia Metropolitan Police Department

TO: Mayor Walter E. Washington

Bureau,
Division, Office: Office of the Chief

FROM: Chief of Police

Date: March 7, 1975

SUBJECT: Report on the operations of the Intelligence Division

Pursuant to my letter dated February 14, 1975, indicating my desire to provide you with a complete report of this department's Intelligence Division activities over the past several years, the appended accounting describes as best can be reconstructed the operations of the subject division since its inception.

In order to make this report as factual and comprehensive as possible, interviews were conducted with each of the senior ranking officials of the department who have directed or supervised the department's intelligence functions since the inception of the division in January 1967. These interviews have included all such officials who are still members of this department.

Following the interviews of these key supervisory officials, a comprehensive inquiry involving the operational knowledge and experiences of early and current members of the Intelligence Division, past and present, was undertaken. The Intelligence Division currently has an enrollment of 33 sworn members, including officials and investigators. Each of these members has submitted a written statement outlining his functions and assignments in the Intelligence Division. The statements were reviewed and in those cases where responses were brief or not wholly responsive, supplemental statements were obtained from each member in the form of structured questions geared to specific points of interest.

Further, each of the 22 members of this department now in other units of the department, who at some point since January 1967, were assigned to the Intelligence Division, has been contacted during the course of the inquiry and the same written and supplemental statements have been obtained from them.

Finally, interviews were also conducted with a number of senior investigators for fill-in and amplifying information.

In addition to the information gained through contact with those members past and present, this inquiry has also traced the origin and scope of policies which governed the conduct and actions of that division and its members.

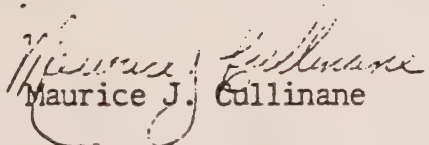

The directives and guidelines, both written and verbal, under which the division functioned over the years, were compiled, along with an analysis of early studies and recommendations which contributed to the formation and functioning of the unit.

Also reviewed and considered were the various files and records maintained within the Intelligence Division which have been the subject of a major portion of the existing controversy surrounding the Intelligence Division.

Each of these several areas has been investigated and the results are contained in the attached report.

This then is the process through which the report was compiled and written. I believe it to be a thorough and detailed reconstruction of the practices of the Intelligence Division.

It is therefore respectfully submitted for your review and whatever disposition you deem appropriate.

Maurice J. Cullinane

If Crime and Violence were important topics of national concern in the early 1960's, they became an obsession in the latter portion of that decade: The Uniform Crime Report for 1966 recorded a 62 percent increase in crime over a period of six years, with violent crime rising 49 percent. The arrest of juveniles for serious crimes increased 54 percent in 1966 over 1960, while the number of persons in this age group increased 19 percent, and arrests for narcotic law violations increased 82 percent.

In hearings before the Senate Committee on the District of Columbia during April 1965, the Chairman stated:

**** The continuing upsurge of crime has been Washington, D. C.'s foremost local problem in recent years. More alarming is the fact that crime has increased year by year since 1957 and 1964 established an all-time record high for the Nation's Capital City.

"Federal Bureau of Investigation statistics show that crime in Washington in 1964 increased 25 percent over 1963, while the increase for 18 other cities of comparable size, for the year, was only 13 percent, and the national average for crime was increasing 13 percent.

"During 1964 in the District of Columbia, murder increased 38.9 percent, more than twice that of cities of comparable size; robbery increased 34 percent, more than twice that of cities of comparable size; burglary increased 28 percent, more than twice the average of cities of comparable size; auto theft increased almost 56 percent, more than 4 times as great as the national average for cities of comparable size.****"

Crime was not the only public safety problem in the Nation in 1966. Serious disorders had spread across the face of the country during the previous three years, and reached a peak in the Los Angeles riots in 1965. The aftermath of Watts was a concentrated study of the Criminal Justice System at all levels of government to determine its ability to cope with these intensified problems and a rush to implement what was perceived as new solutions before the level of threat increased.

The District of Columbia too was singled out for special Presidential attention to the above. The Metropolitan Police Department's Intelligence Division was created in direct response to a Presidential Committee Report that concluded the department was conspicuously deficient in its organization and management procedures.

On July 16, 1965, President Lyndon B. Johnson, by Executive Order 11234, established the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia and admonished the Commission that its goal should be no less than "the planning and establishment in the District of a model system which will best achieve fair and effective law enforcement."

The Commission contracted with the International Association of Chiefs of Police to prepare an organization and management study of the Metropolitan Police Department. The report was published in 1966 and recommended the creation of an Intelligence Division in the following format:

"The community problems existing in the District of Columbia and every other metropolitan area make it increasingly important for the Chief to have information on potential violence and disturbances. Without advanced warning, the department cannot take the necessary precautionary steps to prevent or minimize disorder. And since this is the Nation's Capital the police department finds itself involved in a great many more security details than are required of most departments. This makes it imperative to assign security and subversive matters to one unit for purposes of maximum coordination and control.

"Subversive Section: This section is responsible for collection and appropriate dissemination of information about groups and individuals that threaten the security of national and local government. Members should develop information concerning structure, membership, and plans or organizations engaged in subversive activities, including those which have the intent to create religious and social prejudice and those which advocate disturbances and violence."

The above report was approved in its entirety and the Chief of Police was directed to implement its recommendations by the President, and the Board of Commissioners. The reorganization of the department began in 1966 and major progress was achieved during the year 1967 and early 1968. By 1967, the United States had experienced an increasing level of riotous activity, recording 83 deaths and 1897 injuries. In 1967, 164 disorders were recorded by the month of October, with eight classified as major and 33 classified as serious.

The aforementioned study was rapidly followed by the Task Force Report on Organized Crime, authored by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice, and published in February 1967. This report proposed criminal intelligence policy by stating:

"Police departments in every major city should have a special intelligence unit solely to ferret out organized criminal activity and to collect information regarding the possible entry of criminal cartels into the area's criminal operations."

In March 1968, the report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders stated:

"The absence of accurate information both before and during a disorder has created special control problems for police. Police departments must develop means to obtain adequate intelligence for planning purposes, as well as on-the-scene information for use in police operations during a disorder. An intelligence unit staffed with fulltime personnel should be established to gather, evaluate, analyze, and disseminate information on potential as well as actual civil disorders. It should provide police administrators and commanders with reliable information essential for assessment and decision making. It should use undercover police personnel and informants, but it should also draw on community leaders, agencies and organizations in the ghetto."

The following month the District of Columbia experienced a major civil disorder as did many other urban areas throughout the country. Law enforcement agencies were encouraged and directed to adopt the recommendation of the National Advisory Commission including the guidelines for intelligence operations.

I. Formal Development:

It was in the above atmosphere that the Intelligence Division was established in January 1967 through the issuance of Department General Order 7-G-4, Series 1966. (See Attachment A.) It was staffed with 14 sworn members, consisting of a director with the rank of inspector, two lieutenants, three sergeants, and eight investigators. It was structured in three sections which were: Security Information Section, Organized Crime Section, and Rackets Section. The division director was directly responsible to the Assistant Chief of Police for Inspectional Services.

The mission was to collect, catalog, and disseminate information on individuals and groups that were involved in demonstrations, subversive activities, organized crime, and in business fraud and rackets. Further, to establish and maintain intelligence liaison with other agencies and organizations.

The specific functions of each section were outlined in the order as follows:

1. Security Information Section:

- a. Be responsible for the assimilation and dissemination of data on conspirator and demonstration groups that threaten the security of national and local government.

- b. Be responsible for collecting and cataloging information on individuals and groups involved in demonstrations.
- c. Assimilate and disseminate information on organized crime and business frauds and rackets.
- d. Be responsible for securing information about the membership of violent and radical organizations.

2. Organized Crime Section:

- a. Collect current information on crime conditions that are susceptible to organization and syndicate control.
- b. Establish and maintain liaison with federal agencies for the purpose of exchanging criminal intelligence information.
- c. Maintain an index record on individuals believed involved in organized criminal activity.

3. Rackets Section:

- a. Investigate all allegations of fraudulent business practices.

- b. Be responsible for the investigation of all types of confidence games.
- c. Be responsible for maintaining an index file on all known confidence operators.

In December 1969, this order setting forth the mission and responsibilities of the Intelligence Division was rescinded and a new order (7-G-4-a) was issued, which would provide better operational procedure and better grouping of similar functions. (See Attachment B.)

The Organized Crime Section and the Rackets Section were combined with its goals and objectives remaining the same. Added to the division responsibilities were the processing of applications for detective agency licenses and commissions as special police officers.

The three sections were now: Security Information Section, Organized Crime and Rackets Section, and Special Officers Section. At this time, the authorized manning of the division was increased to 32 sworn members.

Rather than listing specific functions of the various sections, only the changes made from the preceding order will be noted.

Added to the Security Information Section was the function of maintaining contact with appropriate personnel at embassies so that this department would be aware of any problems that could develop which would require police action.

The division's mission statement was amended by restricting dissemination of information gained. The words "to appropriate elements of the department" were added along with the word "Government," where dissemination was outside the department to other agencies.

The functions of the new Special Officers Section were:

1. Investigate applications for licenses of detective agencies.
2. Process, commission, and terminate special police and report on complaints against detective agencies.
3. Inspect special police on the job for conformance with standards of conduct and uniform regulation compliance.

The structure of the Intelligence Division and its function was changed again to their present form in June 1972, by General Order 101.10, (see Attachment C), and the section was designated a branch to conform with department administrative updates.

The only functional change within the Security Information Branch was the elimination of responsibilities to gather and catalog information on demonstrators. The changed function was now worded:

- (b) Be responsible for collecting and disseminating to appropriate organizational elements, information on activities that require a police response.

The last general order revision did not change manpower authorizations, and the lines of supervisory responsibility remained the same. Each branch or section was responsible to the director who himself was responsible to the Inspectional Services Officer.

Since its inception in January 1967, the Intelligence Division has had a total past and present membership of 81 sworn members. Of that number, 22 have since been reassigned to other units and 26 have retired or resigned. The Security Information Section, over its span of existence, had a maximum of 17 investigators and a minimum of 10, the latter being its present complement.

II. Informal Development

While few law enforcement agencies reflected formalized intelligence units within organizational charts during the early 1960's, most had assigned intelligence-related duties to some organizational element. In the Metropolitan Police Department, this responsibility was assigned to the Special Investigations Squad, Criminal Investigations Division, and this unit can be traced back into the 1940's. The Special Investigations Squad consisted of senior members of the Detective Division and in 1967 the average length of service was 22 years. The squad had never actively engaged in operations on the street and for the most part processed information that was forwarded to them. This unit became the new Intelligence Division at the time of reorganization and, during 1967 and 1968, members retired and the Division recruited replacements from among younger officials and investigators.

Shortly after the disorder that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., on April 4, 1968, the Department of the Army forwarded a proposal to the District Government. The Army noted its responsibility to assist the city in control of large scale disorder, and of the necessity to be informed on a day-to-day basis of the time, place, and possible duration of potential civil disturbances that might escalate beyond the capability of the Police Department. In return, the Department of the Army indicated its willingness to transfer $150,000 to the District of Columbia as compensation for the expense incurred in carrying out this mission. Acceptance by the District of the Army's offer was forwarded the following day, noting that the Intelligence Division was capable of collecting the information, but was seriously hampered by lack of funds. Accordingly, the funds were transferred to the D.C. Treasurer 12 days later on June 19, 1968. The funds were made exclusively available to the Chief of Police and subvouchered by the Assistant Chief, Inspectional Services Bureau. To date all funds have been expended with the exception of $2934.12 currently held by the Director, Intelligence Division. These funds will be expended for criminal intelligence operations during this calendar year. With the exception of the subject monies, the intelligence operations have been entirely supported from appropriated funds or LEAA grant awards.

It was at this time and with the assistance of Department of Army funds, the unit first utilized undercover officers to gather information. This procedure was unsatisfactory as it was difficult to conceal the officer's identity and the turnover was high due to promotion or desire for other assignments. The department then turned to special employees or informants to develop such information and such persons did join private organizations to facilitate this purpose.

Through these funds, sworn members were also directed to visit cities with established intelligence units to study and report thereon. In a similar manner, members of the unit visited other urban areas that had experienced or were experiencing disorders. With the knowledge gained, the division established the basic pattern for its operations over the next several years.

Since the initial problems were disturbance related and occurred in the inner city, the intelligence operations at that time focused on those areas. The Director of Public Safety ordered the Intelligence Division to compile a list of 200 persons who were community leaders or could influence the actions of residents in any future disturbance through petition towards peaceful means. As this was attempted, however, a serious disturbance in Chicago, at the Democratic National Convention, focused everyone's attention to the Peace Movement and this became the major reporting objective of the Intelligence Division until the movement subsided in 1971-72. Due to the national scope of the anti-war movement, it soon became evident our intelligence program could not operate in isolation, since demonstrations in this city generally attracted from 50,000 to 250,000 persons. Close ties were developed with federal and municipal agencies across the country, in order to facilitate the gathering of data relative to number of participants and mode of transportation. In addition, organizational leaders were identified and the advance planning of demonstrators was probed for information of operational personnel.

III. ELECTRONIC INTERCEPT

It is the policy of the Metropolitan Police Department and each of its investigative components to adhere strictly to the laws outlined in the United States Code, Title 18-Section 2510 et. seq. and the District of Columbia Code, Title 25-541 et. seq. (See Attachment D)

All wire intercepts were prohibited within the department by General Order 5, Series 1964. (See Attachment E) With the implementation of Sub-chapter III of the District of Columbia Court Reform and Criminal Procedures Act of 1970, members of the Metropolitan Police Department were authorized to conduct court-ordered wiretaps. Accordingly, General Order 12, Series 1971, as amended by General Order 304.4, 1972, was published to establish departmental procedures for court-ordered wiretaps and procedures for one-party consent interceptions which were excepted from provision of the Code. (See Attachment F)

Morals Division Order #8, Series 1971, further defined the standards of operation and General Order 603.5, 1973, centralized the utilization of electronic surveillance equipment within the department. (See Attachment G)

The department maintains complete records of all authorized interceptions which can be produced on court order. Court-authorized interceptions are closely reviewed prior to, while ongoing, and at the conclusion by officials of the Metropolitan Police Department, Assistant United States Attorneys, representatives of the Justice Department, and judges of the proper jurisdiction; virtually all of the interceptions have resulted in arrests or led to arrests at a later date. No interception activity was found to be unwarranted.

One-party intercepts are approved by the Inspectional Services Officer and an annual report is made thereon to the Chief of Police by January 6th of each calendar year. All intercepts are conducted through the supervision of the Electronic Surveillance Unit, Morals Division.

All departmental intercepts were conducted in relation to criminal investigations. The only intercept utilized in connection with demonstration activities consisted of a recording device in the apartment of a special employee of the department in order to secure information regarding planned anti-war activities of an illegal nature. This consisted of a one-party consent and was a legal installation.

IV. Methods of Compiling Information

Beyond that provided by its assigned investigators, and the various field units of the department, information obtained by the Intelligence Division came from two major sources, special employees and undercover officers.

Special employees are individuals compensated on a continuing basis for the provision of information on special events which may call for police services. During the period of intensive demonstrations in this city the number of special employees which were used reached into the twenties.

These persons were employed by the division upon the recommendation of an investigator who was aware of their particular knowledge in matters of police concern. The recommendations were then approved by the appropriate supervisory officials. Special employees occasionally were persons previously recruited as workers and staff members by activist groups and demonstration planners. Their functions were to provide our investigators with information obtained through those capacities. Such employees were instructed to engage in no illegal activities and their work was reviewed by a contact officer. There is no evidence the department sanctioned any illegal activity by any special employee nor is any such activity known at this time.

Undercover officers have often been used by the Intelligence Division. Their identities were known only to their commanding officer, their own supervising official, and their own investigator contact to whom they reported and from whom they received instructions.

Over the course of years, while demonstrations were of prime concern and students on campuses were playing a major role in these demonstrations, undercover officers had been utilized from time to time to monitor those activities. This has included actual enrollment of police officers in local universities for varying periods of time. While serving in that capacity, the undercover officer's function was to provide information relating to possible illegal activities.

Individual officers operated in such an enrolled-student assignment commensurate with the level of demonstration activity as judged from campus to campus and were withdrawn as appropriate. At present, there are no officers functioning in this capacity.

V. Reporting System and File Maintenance

Initially, there were no guidelines governing either the establishment or the subsequent maintenance of intelligence files. For the past several months, the department has been engaged in developing and staffing such an order and it is appended as Attachment H.

In the past, there existed a significant deficiency in the unit's capacity to review or screen information received. This weakness was greatly amplified by the rising tempo of activity connected with the increasing demonstrations, and much material was routinely placed in file which did not prove relevant to subsequent police operations. This routine filing included source information, investigator reports, newspaper clippings, and miscellaneous information received from outside departments and other agencies. The bulk of the materials filed went into jackets formed under private organizational names. Some material was also filed under individual names.

A card file index system was devised to cross-reference each entry made. When new files were established, a corresponding card was filed. If a single file jacket recorded multiple names, a card was often made in each name for reference purposes. This was a cumbersome system since sometimes when a file was removed as outdated, the card or cards were not removed. The consequence was that the card index file contained names that were meaningless as there was no back-up file for them.

Files were instituted and maintained in rudimentary form on persons who were obviously mentally disturbed. This file has primarily consisted of letters written to this department by the individual. It was intended to be used to identify possible threats against persons and properties.

Special incident files were established to identify injuries and depredations to particular persons or properties wherever they occurred in order to assess the potential for like incidents in this city.

VI. Association with the C. I. A.

Since the late 1940's, the department has designated one official to be the "coordinator" with the Central Intelligence Agency. This assignment was created to channel all official business through one individual and thereby exercise some control over such transactions. Four officials have held the assignment. There has been no request for information through the designated coordinator for approximately the last two years.

Most of the department's past association with the C. I. A. has been publicly reported. Twelve members of this department were trained in intelligence activities by the C. I. A. This training terminated in November 1969. Also, three members of this department attended a school on photography, and this instruction terminated in January 1973. Two members of the Explosive Ordinance Squad received training in locks and locking devices in August 1972. This is the extent of such training, and no such activity has taken place since January 1973.

During the period 1969-1970, the department borrowed certain equipment from the C. I. A. This has been reported previously and consisted of the following:

In preparation for three major demonstrations, during 1969-1970, the department received on loan five automobiles, seven portable radios, and one receiver. The stated purpose for this request was that the department at that time was financially unable to provide the Intelligence Division with these material resources. The automobiles on loan were the private vehicles of individual members of the C. I. A., who operated the vehicles during the period of loan. The C. I. A. also assisted the department by specially wiring two lamps capable of intercepting oral communications. Finally, during the period 1970-71, the department borrowed wire surveillance equipment for use in court-ordered wire intercepts and pen registers within the Morals Division. This equipment was all returned after the department was able to obtain its own.

This agency has not received any vehicles on loan from the C. I. A. since 1970, and all radio equipment has been returned. The lamps, which were not accountable items, were destroyed.

Finally, it has been a policy of this department to assist the C. I. A. in training certain personnel for their organization. The last training period was December 1974. No additional training is contemplated until a review of its relevance is undertaken.

VII. Current Status and Organization:

In March of 1974, a general management review was undertaken of each organizational element of the Inspectional Services Bureau. The Director, Intelligence Division, had been attempting to redefine the objectives of the Security Information Branch with the major emphasis on the collection of criminal intelligence. Some difficulty was being experienced in selecting an enforcement category that would not duplicate the responsibilities of detectives, yet have a positive impact on rising crime statistics.

The offenses of larceny and burglary have increased by nine percent and twenty percent, respectively, over the past calendar year, while all index crime has increased by seven percent. In addition, larceny and burglary are the most difficult crimes to successfully investigate inasmuch as physical evidence and eyewitness identification are rarely present.

These factors are evident in the low closure rate of 11.3 and 19.6 percent locally, and 18 and 19 percent nationally. Therefore, the reduction of these offenses was established as the new priority of the Security Information Branch. One approach was to simply investigate reported offenses. A second approach would be to identify and eliminate fencing operations that make such ventures profitable, thereby disrupting the regular patterns of illicit merchandising and forcing thieves to unfamiliar territory which increases their vulnerability to detection and arrest. The latter course was adopted and has remained the main objective of the Security Information Branch to this present date.

In order to give force to the statement of objectives, a reallocation of manpower resources was directed. The Security Information Branch at that time consisted of two sergeants and fourteen investigators. (The unit was four investigators above authorized strength.) This was further divided into two equal squads, a Criminal Activities Squad and a Civil Disorder Squad. In March 1974, instructions were issued to phase down the Civil Disorder Squad to two or three investigators with a final goal of one investigator assigned to such activities. In addition, instructions were issued to reduce the manpower to authorized strength through attrition. This has been accomplished; and, at the date of this writing, the subject element is composed of ten investigators, nine assigned to criminal intelligence and one assigned to demonstration-related activity. (See Attachment I.)

Also, in March 1974, instructions were issued to reduce the number of undercover officers assigned to demonstration-related activities and evaluate the number of special employees utilized for similar purposes. As a result of these directives, the assignment of all undercover officers to college campuses was terminated. In addition, a number of special employees have been phased out; and, at this time, the remainder are in a probationary status to determine if they can function in the areas of criminal intelligence. Presently, there are no undercover officers or special employees engaged in collecting data relative to demonstrations or monitoring campus activities.

VIII. Response to Questions Posed in the Memorandum dated February 18, 1975, addressed to Mayor Walter E. Washington from City Council Members and entitled 'Political Surveillance by D. C. Police Officers'

(Unnumbered)

"Newspapers have already written that Councilmember Julius W. Hobson, his wife Tina Hobson, Councilmember Marion Barry, Jr., and Delegate Walter Fauntroy were all targets of police spying by undercover agents during the late 1960's and early 1970's. When was this type of political surveillance first initiated by the Police Department? Under whose authorization..."

The department has noted that individual files referred to public activities of Delegate Walter Fauntroy, Councilmember Julius W. Hobson, and Councilmember Marion Barry, Jr. There is no evidence that Mrs. Tina Hobson was a subject of observation and/or reporting by members of the Intelligence Division. There is no evidence that a specific file was maintained on Mrs. Hobson or that any generalized file contained material relating to her activities, however, three index cards did refer to Mrs. Hobson and noted several organizations with which she was affiliated.

An index card did exist under the name David A. Clark, however, there is no indication as to the purpose for originally filing the card. Officer

Ann Kolego, prior to her appointment on the department, was a special employee of the Intelligence Division. Her assignment was to report on planning activities of anti-war groups. In this capacity she attended frequent meetings as an invited participant. On two occasions, Ms. Kolego attended anti-war meetings in Mr. Clark's office which she understood had been loaned for this purpose. Mr. Clark was never a subject of observation by the Intelligence Division, and Ms. Kolego simply happened to be in his office as a matter of circumstance.

It is difficult to identify when the department first filed information on demonstrations, but during the 1950's, it was the responsibility of uniformed members to file a single sheet "picket report," when activities were observed on public space. Such reports were filed with the Special Investigations Squad, Criminal Investigations Division. The Special Investigations Division became the nucleus of the Intelligence Division when it was established in 1967. Former personnel and file material were transferred to the new organizational element. The Intelligence Division remained an "office operation" until the disorder of 1968, at which time members of the division actively engaged in gathering information.

The authorization for the Intelligence Division is found in Organizational Order No. 153, dated November 1966, and General Order No. 101.10, of the Metropolitan Police Department. (See Attachment C.)

(1,A)

"A complete list of all persons (both D. C. residents and visitors) who were named in special non-criminal files consisting of newspaper articles and other published materials maintained by the Police Department considered 'criminal' and 'non-criminal' (i.e., does 'criminal' include such items as parading without a permit, failure to move on, etc.)"

The major portion of such files has been destroyed, and it would be impossible to reconstitute same.

For purposes of the Intelligence Division file system, charges of parading without a permit, failure to move on, etc., are considered non-criminal.

For purposes of prosecution, such charges are considered criminal.

(1,B)

"A complete list of all persons subjected to other forms of surveillance and observation for non-criminal reasons including, but not limited to, following people around, attending meetings or speeches, wiretapping and use of other eavesdropping or recording devices whether visual or auditory. Be sure to include information on any such surveillance currently being maintained on D. C. elected officials or their families, U. S. Congressmen or on other citizens and visitors in the Nation's Capital."

The breadth of this question is so great that it is difficult to give a complete answer. The department recorded most demonstrations, parades, etc., on film, and some of these events were attended by up to one quarter million persons, the majority of whom would be unidentifiable. Records were also kept of meetings and other events attended by members or employees of the Intelligence Division. The department has previously stated that from 1968 forward, major demonstrations, protest marches, mass meetings, and other similar events were monitored while in progress. The activities of the demonstration leaders and selected organizations were monitored while such events were in the planning stage. Both undercover officers and special employees monitored various organizational meetings and in some instances joined the organization to facilitate this process. Undercover officers were assigned to various college campuses as full-time students. Activity reports were subsequently filed by all officers and special employees.

The department is not currently engaged in any non-criminal surveillance activities on D. C. elected officials or their families, U. S. Congressmen, or on other citizens and visitors in the Nation's Capital.

Files were maintained on the following elected officials of the District of Columbia. All such files have been destroyed and were not originated or maintained due to elective office:

Congressional Delegate Walter E. Fauntroy

Chairman Sterling Tucker

Councilmember Marion Barry, Jr.

Councilmember Willie J. Hardy

Councilmember Julius W. Hobson

Councilmember Douglas Moore

"It is an established fact that former Police Chief Jerry Wilson dealt directly with the Department of Justice and the White House and did not report to you during the months of intensive anti-war activity; therefore, who actually authorized the surveillance of each individual listed above: Chief Wilson? Someone at the White House? CIA? FBI? Justice Department? Provide all copies of documents and policy statements relating to authorization of political surveillance and monitoring as defined under Section One of this memorandum."

This section can best be responded to directly by former Chief of Police Jerry V. Wilson, or other officials of the Government.

For documents and policy statements relative to the Intelligence Division activities, see Attachments A,B,C,D,E,F,G,H, and I.

"What has happened to each of the files maintained for non-criminal reasons by the police intelligence program? On what date was each file shredded? By whose orders? Were copies of the files given to other agencies? Provide directives and policy statements for routine destruction of intelligence data. Include all directives and policy statements providing for the routine destruction of all Police Department files."

Beginning in March or April of 1974, a process to purge the non-criminal files of the Intelligence Division commenced. This is an ongoing process, and the files have been reduced by approximately 80 percent at this writing.

The date of destruction is not recorded for individual files; however, the following general pattern was followed:

1. Destruction of Morals Division files relative to morals offenses and other information collected from various sources and filed by individual name. This represented a card file established in the late 1930's or early 1940's. The file has not been updated since 1968 and has not been used since 1973.
2. A large block of Intelligence Division folders dating back to the early 1950's and relating to persons affiliated with Communist organizations. This file was a long dormant file and its need for destruction was obvious.
3. A small block of Intelligence Division files relating to demonstration leadership, and filed by individual name. These files were disposed of inasmuch as such persons are no longer engaged in such activities and retention served no useful purpose.
4. A large block of Intelligence Division files relative to individual demonstrations, rallies, and protest actions. These files were destroyed on the theory that if similar events would occur in the future they would involve new leadership.

5. A large block of Intelligence Division files on organizations involved in various protest and demonstration activities. These files related to the structure of the organization, activities engaged in, and reports on various meetings. This file is presently being purged and in all probability will be destroyed.
6. A large block of Intelligence Division files relating to persons who have a history of mental illness and either forward letters to the Chief of Police or become involved in bizarre incidents. This file will be purged as much material is now outdated.

The files were destroyed by directive of Assistant Chief Theodore R. Zanders, and this action was concurred in by both the former Chief of Police Jerry V. Wilson and the incumbent Chief of Police.

The Intelligence Division does not routinely forward information to other law enforcement agencies, however, it does respond to specific requests for information.

Past policy for routine destruction of Intelligence Division data has been verbal and not reduced to written directive. Attachment H, dated February 27, 1975, defines present policy.

"Which demonstrators were denied permits because of information provided by the police intelligence program? What reasons were given for each denial? Were such groups informed of the reasons? Who made the decision in each case? Provide records."

There is no evidence to reveal that the Metropolitan Police Department has ever denied any person or group a permit due to information provided by the Intelligence Division or for any other reason. Once a permit application is received, the terms are often negotiated prior to issuance. The terms of a permit are generally negotiated by the Commander, Special Events Branch, Special Operations Division, and concurred in by the Deputy Chief, Special Operations Division, and Assistant Chief for Field Operations.

"What has been the total cost (provide figures on an annual basis) of the police intelligence program covering non-criminal activity? How many police officers (hours) were involved? How was the cost justified? Provide all documents relating to the police intelligence program focus and goals. What information was discovered through this form of political intelligence gathering that could not have been learned from other sources?"

The total cost of the intelligence program for fiscal years 1968-1975 is appended as Attachment J.

The cost of non-criminal activity for the years 1968-1975 is appended as Attachment K.

The cost could be justified in several ways. The first would be maximum utilization of operations personnel. Valid strategic intelligence data would predict the size of demonstrations and probability of disorder and the degree of anticipated violence. With this information, the department would not have to over-plan manpower reserves in the event an unusual incident occurred or a greater number of persons participated than planned.

A second justification can be found in the process through which the Intelligence Division was established and organizational objectives determined. The division was initially recommended through a study contracted by the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia. Subsequently, directives to fully implement the survey were received from the District of Columbia Government. Thereafter, the department was directed to report on the progress of implementation through quarterly reports to the White House and the Board of Commissioners.

Valid tactical intelligence data will inform a field commander in advance that demonstration activities will terminate on schedule, that no disorder is planned, and that the crowd wishes to disperse and depart the area. This enables the field commander to relieve personnel on a timely basis in lieu of holding them an extra hour or two as a safety precaution. Major events require considerable amount of manpower resources. An expenditure of over 3000 officers is required to provide services for an inaugural parade. A detail of 400-500 officers was not unusual for details occurring during the period 1969-1973. Each hour the field commander retains a 500-man detail, entails a cost of over $4825 in personnel funds alone. If this is projected to 350-plus demonstrations per year, the program becomes cost effective.

The Metropolitan Police Department has handled more major demonstrations than any other city and has accomplished this without loss of life, serious injury, or major property damage, with the exception of the disturbance of 1968, in the latter instance. This was accomplished in large part because those involved in planning, and those who carried out those plans, were provided concrete data which facilitated the decision-making process and maintained a balance of control, commensurate with estimated threat so that the Department can avoid both an overreaction or an underreaction, both of which can stimulate unnecessary tension or even violence.

It is difficult to determine what information was discovered through this form of intelligence gathering that could not have been learned from other sources, since one will never know what other sources would have produced. The Chief of Police, in order to discharge his responsibility to the citizens of a community, has a need to know of adverse conditions within his jurisdiction and to be advised of adverse conditions without, that may affect same. The only way to differentiate between organizations intent on harm, and those whose intentions are peaceful, is to observe them. The only way to determine if peaceful organizations will remain so, is to continue to observe them. The "Weather-Underground" evolved from the peace movement, and the "Symbonese Liberation Army" grew out of a prison reform movement. Evolutions of this nature were not unique during the last decade.

As a matter of department policy, ranking officials of this agency are not privy to the operations of the Intelligence Division. They have no knowledge of past occurrences within the Intelligence Division. Only the Chief of Police and members assigned to that division have access to files, or knowledge of operational procedures. Ranking officials may request data on a "need-to-know" basis. This policy is true of the Morals Division, Internal Affairs Division, and other investigative elements.

The foregoing chronology of events concerning the intelligence gathering activities of the Metropolitan Police Department raises many difficult questions of great complexity, not only to the citizens of the District of Columbia, but also to police officials themselves. Because the problems associated with intelligence are so difficult, answers that will withstand the test of time and provide the proper balance between public security from disorders, riots, and terrorism on the one hand, and personal privacy on the other, are difficult to find. Also, intelligence gathering elements at the municipal level are a fairly recent occurrence, and little guidance can be found in the policies of other enforcement agencies.

The issues discussed in this report raise difficult legal and ethical questions concerning the proper boundaries of administrative discretion.

The remedy lies in the careful analysis of these issues followed by the formulation of detailed guidelines for future intelligence operations. For this reason an internal committee of ranking officials will be appointed by and report directly to the Chief of Police. Their task will be to develop solutions to these complex issues of policy and procedure with authority to perform whatever field work and research as they deem necessary. When complete these guidelines will be published and become public information. This should not only establish adequate written standards within the Department but serve to inform citizens of their operational perimeters.
